Around And About Town

With (S. F. SKIRVIN)

Finally, brethren, after many years, I have discovered that I have a political mission in life. I want to go to the state legislature to put through a bill making it a misdemeanor for service clubs, organizations, societies, and all other nefarious movements to invite candidates to breakfasts, luncheons or dinners. The milk of human kindness has usually flowed uninterrupted, free from cirrhosis tendencies, but by golly, when my friends are subjected to glutinous temptations, and streamlines leave the rails to acquire a roundtunity out of harmony with the framework, it is time someone came to the rescue.

The Union Pacific moved a good man upward when it promoted W. A. Shook to the Riverside general agency, but it took a fine lad away from Santa Ana. Been here nine years. Behaved himself all that time. Worked diligently for his company, had warm acceptance among business and professional men, and entrenched himself all along the line for splendid citizenship. Bob Bland says a fine office and the city has been compensated by sending a good man to take his place. A. C. Ritter comes down from Los Angeles with a long record for efficient railroad. Guess I can get along with him. If I can't, he can stay.

Elmer Guy reports that the campaign hasn't got his goat, but a goat got a part of his anatomy on a recent visit to Costa Mesa. Elmer is not easily discouraged. There is too much of him to give up easily. So he appeared the morning following the goat incident at a meeting of the Breakfast club to relate the experience, and insist that he was still a candidate. He hasn't been able to tell whether the goat was registering a protest or an endorsement.

And then there was the fellow who figured it out that if he complained about the price of certain products it would have the effect of boosting the market value. If it will do that, I'll get him a chorus which would do credit to a frog pond.

One of the boys coming leisurely down the Elks club steps was reminded by a friend of an occasion when his descent was not so deliberate. It was the time of the earthquake, and the aforesaid individual, while of some ponderosity physically, passed every other club member on his way to the street. There are times when fear lends speed to our steps.

Those "I've enlisted" stickers which appear on windshields create the inquiry as to when the fight begins? Maybe it's just a bluff. I see the same fellows every day.

Here's a little comfort for the orange grower. Met a bean man and he isn't throwing up his hat over the prices of beans. So, boys, you might as well get together. However, everything will come out in the harvest, but just how it will come out is something else.

Primary election August 30. Every candidate I have talked to wishes it was July 30.

An appropriate answer to a question in Spanish was returned in an Orange county court by a lady who did not speak Spanish. She took a long shot and rang the bell. It was a request for a kiss, and the reply "not by a d—right" was hot.

Business, according to my reports, is good one day, not so good the next, worse the following day, and back to good again. Which shows that variation in trade is like the weather. We have all kinds of it.

My heart beats not only for my own existence, but for the candidates for county office who make feeble response to invitations to dinner, or lunch or breakfast. Most of them look like they are about ready to take the count. However, they are assured of either one of two things—some of them both. They will either get the office or indignation. You can't eat all the time and too much unless you pay the penalty.

When one views the unrestricted distribution of public funds for projects which fail to return anything compensatory with the outlay, pension plans worthless, the employment list, and many of them who have contributed (Continued on page 2, Col. 5)

HAWAII CLIPPER LOST IN MID-PACIFIC

4 ARRESTED FOR SALE OF MARIJUANA

Four persons faced felony charges of selling narcotics today as a result of an early-morning raid by district attorney's officers and Anaheim police.

More arrests were predicted in a county-wide "cleanup" of narcotic peddlers as officers raided a small Anaheim house which reportedly has been the center for sales of 1000 marijuana cigarettes a day, many to children between 15 and 18 years of age.

4 TAKEN TO JAIL
Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton's deputies and investigators brought to the county jail:

Manuel Castro, 25, orange picker.
Onesimo Castro, 27, his brother.
Mrs. Aurora Castro, Manuel's pretty 18-year-old wife.
Mrs. Isabel M. Castro, 56, mother of the Castro brothers.

Found in the raid on the Castro house at 422 1/2 South Palm street, Anaheim, were several marked bills, Menton said, which an investigator had used to buy a number of the "reefers" a short time before the officers closed in.

ROUTED FROM BEDS
Working with Police Chief James Bouldin and a squad of officers, District Attorney's Investigator R. H. Sandon, Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner, and Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Gardner and J. E. Walker routed the two women, Onesimo Castro from their beds, searched the house, and found the marked currency used in the marijuana purchase.

"We expect to make several more arrests soon," said Menton, whose officers have been investigating narcotic sales for several months.

"Before we are through, every dope peddler in Orange county will be in jail or out of business. We are out to stop absolutely the increasing sale of narcotics, especially to school children. Last night's arrest cut off one of the busiest dope centers in this area."

BOASTS OF SALES
One of the prisoners had boasted to an undercover man, Menton said, that he was selling 1000 of the little brown cigarettes—"reefers"—a day. Neighbors said the house has been visited almost daily by many persons, among them youngsters of high school and junior college age.

The prisoners were awaiting further questioning by officers in the county jail today before being taken before Justice of the Peace Charles Kuchel of Anaheim for arraignment on the charges.

Conviction on the narcotics sale counts would make each defendant liable for a maximum penitentiary sentence of six years under the state narcotics act.

CULTIST NEW FDR NEIGHBOR

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—The 500-acre Krum Elbow estate of Howland Spencer, long-time neighbor of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was sold today to 20 followers of bald-pated Father Divine, negro cult leader.

The sale, involving a purchase price of $40,000 to $50,000, was announced by Gaius Bolin, jr., of Poughkeepsie, negro attorney for the group.

The estate is located directly across the Hudson river from property owned by the President. Spencer said today that it had been impossible for him to obtain labor "at 45 cents an hour, because President Roosevelt will give money not to work."

"I believe Father Divine's ideas are more economically sound than Roosevelt's," he added. "Roosevelt won't work. Father Divine refuses to have anybody with him who has been on relief and has not repaid the money."

20 CANDIDATES 'ON THE CARPET' AT LUNCHEON

Six candidates for two superior court judgeships went "on the carpet" today as 14 other candidates for public office met with the Orange County Life Underwriters association, the Santa Ana Realty board and the Orange County Insurance exchange at a luncheon in the Green Cafe.

The superior judge aspirants—James L. Allen and H. G. Ames, incumbents; and James L. Davis, Kenneth E. Morrison, James B. Tucker and Franklin G. West—each spoke briefly on various phases of insurance.

Coroner Earl Avey, a candidate for reelection, introduced the other candidates, including Treasurer Terry Stephenson; A. J. Cruickshank, candidate for treasurer; James E. McKeever, candidate for fifth district supervisor; Auditor W. T. Lambert; Tax Collector J. C. Lamb; Recorder Fred Sidebottom; Assemblyman Thomas Kuchel; Sheriff Logan Jackson; Joel Ogile and George Helken, candidates for district attorney; Jesse Elliott, candidate for sheriff; Burr Brown, aspirant for assembly, and School Supt. Ray Adkinson.

President Paul Neff of the underwriters' association opened the meeting, and introduced M. E. Beebe of Anaheim, president of the insurance exchange, and Guy Gilbert, served as chairman of the meeting.

Babs and Her Count Reach Separation Agreement; He Waives Property Claims

LONDON. (AP)—Attorneys for the former Barbara Hutton, five-and-ten heiress, and her estranged husband, Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, announced today the couple had reached an agreement for a separation.

The count was granted "parental rights" toward Lance, their two-year-old son. They entitle him to make certain final decisions affecting his son's education, religion and career.

The deed of separation already has been signed both by the count and countess. It is subject to approval by the Danish minister of justice but would be valid both under Danish and English law.

RUSSIANS, JAPS CLASH AGAIN

TOKYO. (AP)—A Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch from Seoul, capital of Korea, reported today a new incident between Japanese and Russian border guards near Changkufeng.

It said 10 Russians crossed the border and battled with a Japanese patrol but retired after an hour's skirmish. Casualties were not reported.

(Japanese and Russian guards clashed earlier this month in the Changkufeng district, near the junction of the Korean, Russian Siberian and Manchoukuoan frontiers causing sharp tension between Tokyo and Moscow.)

Christian Ideals Held World Need

LONG BEACH. (AP)—Dr. Cecil F. Cheverton, president of Chapman college, Los Angeles, said today in an address before the fiftieth annual convention of the Christian churches of Southern California that "it takes Christian principles to solve the problems of the world, whether economic, social or political."

"It is so difficult to get the world to believe this," said Dr. Cheverton. "The church cannot do it alone. It demands the co-operation of the church, the church college and all other Christian agencies."

JAPS BOMB REFUGEES

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese fliers were accused in Chinese reports today of causing hundreds of civilian deaths during persistent bombardments of the middle Yangtze river region.

Chinese dispatches from Nanchang said Japanese raiders spied 3000 refugees in the Lushan mountains south of Kiukiang and dropped bombs on them, killing "uncounted hundreds."

A Japanese naval communiqué charged that Chinese planes bombed the Japanese hospital ship Tachibana Maru near Kiukiang although she flew a Red Cross flag. No mention was made of the damage.

Another report asserted Japanese airmen raided Nanchang, important air base 90 miles south of fallen Kiukiang, "gateway to the Hankow region," and dropped 30 bombs that killed or wounded 600 and destroyed many houses.

DIES SAYS HE IS 'STARTLED'

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Chairman Dies (D. Tex.) said today the house committee investigating un-American activities already has assembled "startling information," two weeks in advance of public hearings.

It is of such a nature that the public and congress will insist that we carry on the work beyond the present Jan. 3 deadline," Dies said.

He said the committee does not intend to call as witnesses Fritz Kuhn, German-American bund leader, or Communist or Fascist representatives.

"We aren't going to present a sounding board for their causes," he added, "but if they want to appear and bring in documents such as membership and dues lists we'll let them be heard."

ARMY, NAVY FLIERS JOIN IN SEARCH FOR FLYING BOAT BETWEEN GUAM AND MANILA

Fear for Safety of 6 Passengers And 9 Crewmen Grows

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—An intensive search by air, sea and underwater craft was ordered tonight for the Pan-American Airways giant Hawaii clipper which disappeared with 15 men on a flight from Guam to Manila.

Within 12 hours after the last radio call was sent by the 26-ton flying boat, the most intensive three-way search of the Pacific ocean ever undertaken in the vicinity of the Philippines was ordered by army and navy commanders.

Seven planes, eight navy ships, six submarines and an army transport were thrown into the hunt for the $450,000 (Martin) flying boat which literally vanished from the air midway on her 1600-mile flight.

Fears for the safety of the six passengers and crew of nine increased as the hours dragged by without word since the last message flashed from the clipper's radio at 12:09 p. m. (11:09 p. m. Thursday, E.S.T.).

United States army officers informed Pan-American Airways at midnight that army planes would be used at dawn to inspect east coast of Luzon and Samar islands in the central Philippines, where the airways officials said it was possible the clipper might have alighted.

INSURGENTS OPEN DAMS

HENDAYE, France. (at the Spanish Frontier.) (AP)—Spanish insurgents opened all dams today in the Ebro river and its tributaries in an attempt to sweep away bridges behind the government's advancing armies on the Catalan front.

An insurgent news agency report from St. Jean-de-Luz, France said Gen. Francisco Franco's high command had released a swirling nine-foot wave of floodwater from dams high in the Pyrenees mountains.

It said the torrents "made the river impassable" in 30 minutes.

Government advices admitted the Ebro had risen noticeably, presumably from the opening of dams. They denied, however, that their bridges had been swept away and insisted their communications lines were intact.

Insurgents said they had breached all the dams of the Noguera-Pallaresa river and the Segre hydro-electric system above the government's feeder lines across the Ebro.

Highway Patrol Officer Injured
Ray Bradfield, California highway patrolman, suffered a bruised left hand and arm when his motorcycle struck the right door of an automobile driven by Helen Amelia Rice, 118 West Amerige street, Fullerton, as she turned into a drive way near Fifth and Shelton streets yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Pan-American Airways officials announced today that the army transport, Meigs, had reached the Hawaii clipper's last reported position. There was no other word from the Meigs, however.

ALL AVAILABLE SHIPS
WASHINGTON. (AP)—Admiral Harry E. Yarnall informed the navy department he had directed Rear Admiral George J. Myers at Manila to use all available ships in the search for the missing clipper.

STATE OIL AIM UNCHANGED

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Finance Director A. E. Stockburger said today, after a study of the supreme court's oil title decision, that it would have no effect on plans to develop state-owned Huntington Beach oil fields.

He reiterated the intention of the new state lands commission to receive bids Sept. 1 on the tide-lands, asserting the court opinion giving Long Beach title to Long Beach-Wilmington property would not interfere with the action.

The commission will proceed with the leasing program, Stockburger said, without waiting for the result of the November election referendum on the Olson oil bill passed at the 1937 session.

Action will be taken under the March special session legislation sponsored by Gov. Frank F. Merriam, which created the lands commission to govern state mineral and oil holdings.

CLIPPER, WITH 15 ON BOARD, LOST AT SEA

pect the first warship to reach the search area before noon Sunday.

Three destroyers departed about midnight. Others, including six submarines and one aircraft tender, left Manila soon afterward.

Flying conditions and visibility had been generally good, but the plane had flown through scattered showers.

No reason was advanced as to why she might have been forced down, but it was pointed out that if she made a safe landing she could float on the Pacific ocean as well as any boat.

FLIERS JOIN HUNT

The army transport Meigs, only 87 miles away from the clipper's last position, was immediately ordered to search the area. The navy tender Penguin was sent from Guam at 9:30 p. m., Guam time (8:50 a. m., E. S. T.), carrying one Pan-American radioman and an airways mechanic. She was expected to reach the scene Monday.

Seven army planes were ordered to take off from Cavite on Manila bay at dawn Saturday for Legaspi, on the southwestern tip of Luzon island and closest airport to the position given by the clipper.

From Legaspi the two amphibians and five bombers were directed to comb a widespread area for trace of the flying boat. The planes, each with a flying range of 1100 miles, were instructed to sweep over a path out to sea 70 miles wide, flying 10 miles apart.

For several hours after the clipper's usual landing time—between 2:30 and 3:30 p. m., Pan-American officials insisted they were not worried.

The Hawaii clipper, under command of Capt. Leo Terletzky of Palo Alto, Calif., carried six passengers and a crew of nine.

The passengers were: Maj. Howard C. French, Portland, Ore.

K. A. Kennedy, Piedmont, Calif.; Pan-American airways division traffic manager.

Dr. Earl B. McKinley, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Fred C. Meier, Washington, D. C.

Hope Held for Safety of 15 Men Aboard Big Clipper; Radio Silence Is Main Worry

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—All possibility of the missing trans-Pacific Hawaii clipper still being in the air was abandoned today, but hope was held for the safety of the 15 men who were aboard when she took off from Guam on a 1000-mile flight to Manila.

Pan-American Airways officials pointed out that the men aboard the flying boat would be just as safe as on any other ocean-going craft if the clipper alighted safely on the ocean.

The clipper might have alighted on the open sea shortly after her last report, from between Guam and Manila. Or she may have found a haven in one of the scattered islands or uncharted reefs lying between her last given position and Samar island, one of the most easterly of the Philippine group, more than 500 miles away.

A year and a half ago a clipper ship found haven in a cove in the only previous case in which one of the three boats in service was forced down. It failed to report for several hours.

The recollection of this and the possibility the Hawaii clipper might have encountered difficulty in raising her kite to fly an emergency radio antenna, furnished the greatest hopes to Pan-American officials.

was formerly assistant to the president of Pan-American Airways.

Wah Sun Choy is a Jersey City restaurant operator.

The last position given by the flying boat was 12:27 north longitude, 130:50 east latitude. This is approximately 600 miles east of the Philippine island of Samar.

In her noon report the clipper said she was flying through cloud banks, and the wind was "a bit rough." The weather bureau here said its maps indicated the weather was good at sea in that vicinity and no storms were in sight.

CAN RIDE WAVES

The transport Meigs reported weather conditions were fair on the ocean's surface. The clipper hopped off from Guam at 3:30 a. m. (2:39 p. m., Thursday, E. S. T.).

The Hawaii, one of three flying boats in regular trans-Pacific service for Pan-American Airways, left her eastern base at Alameda, Calif., last Saturday.

She was capable of riding the waves indefinitely, provided her hull was not damaged in an impact with the water.

Only tragedy in all of Pan-American's Pacific flying was last Jan. 11, when seven men were killed in the mid-air explosion of the Samoan clipper while dumping her load of gasoline for an emergency landing near Pago Pago, Samoa.

The Samoan was not in regular service, but was being used, under command of the veteran, Capt. Edwin C. Musick, to pioneer an Australian service.

VETERAN PILOT

Captain Terletzky of the Hawaii clipper was described by Pan-American officials as one of their best fliers. He started flying for the company about 10 years ago, and formerly was attached to the South American and Caribbean lines. He is a 43-year-old naturalized Russian.

In addition to her crew and passengers, the plane carried several hundred pounds of mail and express.

Pan-American officials said the three ships flying the Alameda-Manila route had logged a total of nearly 2,000,000 miles of flying over the Pacific.

can officials that those board the flying boat were safe.

The darkest part of the picture Pan-American Airways men admitted, was the sudden cessation of normal radio calls without any suggestion of a possible forced landing, and absence of subsequent reports from the ship, her radio equipment is supposed to function from the water once the emergency aerial is raised.

Airmen here said the radio failure indicated some sudden disaster might have overtaken the clipper. She would sink only if destroyed by an explosion, as was the Snoon clipper on an Australian pioneering flight earlier this year, or if she hit the ocean with such force that her sea going hull was shattered.

Pan-American officials were loathe to discuss the possibility of such a disaster, but they insisted there could be no mid-air explosion similar to that which shattered the Snoon clipper and killed her crew of seven.

That explosion was caused by dumping gasoline for an emergency landing. There was little likelihood the Hawaii clipper dumped her gasoline. If she did, she was protected by a new system of safety valves designed to prevent or vaporizing gas being ignited.

RESOLUTION TO BE OFFERED BY SEN. HOLT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Holt (D., W. Va.), an administration critic, said today he would ask the 1939 senate to express formal opposition to a third term for President Roosevelt.

He had intended to introduce such a resolution during the last session, he added, but had held it up "pending proper time."

Holt explained the resolution would be similar to one which the senate passed in 1926, while Calvin Coolidge was president in 1928.

That resolution was introduced by Senator LaFollette (Prog., Wis.) and was considered after Coolidge had issued his famous "I do not choose to run" statement. It said:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the senate that the precedent established by Washington and other presidents of the United States in retiring from the presidential office after their second term has become, by universal concurrence, a part of our Republican system of government and that any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic, and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

"I don't see why the members who voted for the 1928 resolution wouldn't vote for it now," Holt commented.

Among those who supported LaFollette's resolution were 22 members of the present senate. They included some of President Roosevelt's backers as well as some of his critics. The only present senators who voted against the resolution were McNary (R., Ore.) and Walsh (D., Mass.).

Walsh said at the time he was opposed to a third term but believed senate action would "reflect upon the good faith" of President Coolidge in his statement that he did not choose to run.

Another proposal involving the 1940 election, as well as all future balloting, may be offered next year by Walsh, a member of the senate campaign expenditure committee.

He suggested that there be attached to all appropriations bills a proviso restricting political activity by federal employees and prohibiting use of federal funds for political purposes.

He said the committee might propose as an alternative a statute making it a criminal offense for federal employees to intimidate or bring pressure against voters in either a primary or a general election.

Prisoners Apt to Stray Before Cotton-Picking

HUNTSVILLE, Texas. (AP)—Jack Ellington, general manager of the Texas prison system, says he always expects unrest and attempted escapes just before the cotton picking season.

"The prisoners don't like to pick cotton," he says. "They hate it above all work; and they know that in the hot weather just before cotton picking time the bloodhounds will be least likely to pick up their trail if they try to escape."

ANAHEIM HEARS BAND CONCERT

Before a large, appreciative audience, the Federal Music Project presented its fourth concert under the direction of Leon Eckles and Dudley Page Harper in the Greek theater at Anaheim city park last night.

Eckles conducted the symphony orchestra through the first number, the overture to Weber's "Der Freischutz" opera, to the final number, Tschaikowsky's "March Slave." Other numbers were the "Rustle of Spring," the Farandole movement from Bizet's "L'Arlesienne," and Ponchielli's "Dance of the Hours."

The chorus, with Mrs. Mae Renfer at the piano, sang four songs. Those best received were Schubert's "Am Meer" and "Danny Boy" (from Londonderry Airs).

SCHOOL BOARD OFFERS AID IN VOCATIONS

The Santa Ana school district's department of vocational rehabilitation, inaugurated last winter in cooperation with the state board of education, will continue to operate throughout the summer, Superintendent Frank Henderson announced today.

Open to anyone 16 years of age or over with any physical disability which does not permit him to return to his former vocation, the rehabilitation service is designed to counsel individuals in selecting suitable vocations, to arrange and finance the training needed to make individuals craftsmen in chosen fields, and to assist individuals in securing employment.

The district office for Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Anaheim and Fullerton is located at 1120 South Main street, where William Dohr, district coordinator, will take applications.

British Transfer Gold Bullion in Open Horse-Cart

LONDON. (AP)—American gangsters who are used to seeing gold transported in armored cars watched over by guards with drawn pistols will weep at the news of how the British do it.

Three men in an open horse-drawn van pulled up in front of the London branch of a New York bank recently with 50 bars of gold, worth $15,000 each.

A messenger greeted them with three cups of tea. The men set the cups on the bars, lit their pipes. Ten minutes later they took the empty cups into the bank and casually unloaded the $750,000 worth of gold.

Railway Cagey in Picking Men for Roosevelt Train

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—When President Roosevelt visited Colorado recently the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad made sure that every member of the train crew was a Democrat.

Frank L. Engle, secretary of the Pueblo County Democrat central committee, a locomotive engineer, piloted the presidential special through the winding Royal Gorge, west of Pueblo.

The engineer on the train that preceded the special through the gorge—to see that the line was clear—was Thomas E. Martin, a brother of John E. Martin, Colorado congressman.

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic

Tobacco growers know "inside" reasons for preferring Camels

These planters tell what they know about Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos

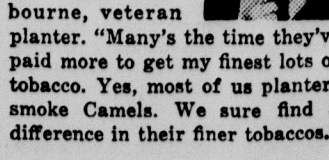

"At the warehouse sales," says Leon Mullen, experienced planter, "Camel buys the choice grades of tobacco. That's the reason why most of us men who grow and know tobacco smoke Camel cigarettes. We certainly appreciate the difference in the tobacco Camel buys."

"Almost every one of my fine baskets of tobacco went to Camel buyers last year," says G. A. Langley, who knows tobacco growing from every angle. "Better tobacco means better smoking," he adds. "That means Camels to me—and to most other growers too."

Alton Barnes, a planter who has grown and graded many a fine crop, says this about Camels: "Year after year the choicest lots of my tobacco have gone to the Camel buyers. Naturally, we growers select the best tobacco for our own smoking. So we choose Camels."

"I know from experience that Camel buys choice tobaccos," says Mr. Cecil Claybourne, veteran planter. "Many's the time they've paid more to get my finest lots of tobacco. Yes, most of us planters smoke Camels. We sure find a difference in their finer tobaccos."

ISLE OF CRETE SCENE OF NEW UPRISING

ATHENS, (P)—A revolt against the regime of Gen. John Metaxas, dictator of Greece, apparently was quickly crushed today.

The governor of the island of Crete, where the uprising broke out, cabled Metaxas that order had been restored in Canea, the Crete capital.

All rebel-held government buildings have been reoccupied by authorities, he reported, and the revolutionists have fled.

Four hundred armed men, reported to be sailors, effected the coup by taking advantage of a weakened garrison at Canea. Most of the troops there had been sent to northern Greece to prepare vacation reliefs for other garrisons.

Greece's last revolt, in the mer Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, of 1935, led by the late forcellos, was crushed after bloody naval and land engagements.

Venizelos, a native of Crete, started his revolt there. The capital, population about 26,000, is an important port.

Premier Metaxas, who became premier April 28, 1936, established dictatorial powers on Aug. 5 to crush what he said was an attempted communist revolt.

He announced the first of this year that, in a continuing purge, he would use "severity without pity" to crush opposition.

He rounded up nearly 100 oppositionists in May.

Parliament was abolished in Greece by royal decree in August.

Don't Be Shot Accidentally—Wear A Sombrero

MEXICO, D. F. (P)—The Mexican sombrero is an institution here, but it may be a joke as well. If cartoonists desire to make a man look ridiculous, they put a big sombrero on him.

Yet the sombrero, or hat, may sometimes cost as much as $500. Some are made of finest felt, adorned with gold, silver and copper, and a few with precious stones.

The big hat has practical advantages since it provides plenty of protection from the sun, spares the eye from glare, and prevents hunting accidents.

In the United States a hunter might mistake a moving object in the woods for a deer, but the Mexican sombrero never has been taken for anything—but a sombrero.

Animals Leery of Offspring Petted By Human Beings

DENVER, (P)—If you find a deer while out west, don't stop to pet it.

John D. Hart, Colorado's chief game warden, says a mother elk or deer will stomp to death any of its young that a human being touches, except in park areas where the presence of people is not strange.

Hart says his most troublesome tasks is taking calls from people who report they have found a lost bear cub, or an elk or deer calf.

"Even if we could find their mothers again it would be no use, because the mothers would not take their young back after people handled them," said Hart.

"We have to rear them on a game farm until they are old enough to shift for themselves."

years of service to the general welfare of their country. I have a friend who is under the impression I think otherwise. He related his experiences and his losses to me. He would get a real surprise if he knew my hard luck story, but there are too many ahead of me.

Sutton Wright thinks Nebraska isn't getting an even break with Iowa. Maybe, says Sutton, the corn doesn't grow quite as tall as in Iowa, but their picnic at Long Beach is just as important to them as the Iowa picnic to former Hawk-Eyes. So tomorrow, all day, former Nebraskans will indulge in annual picnic and like it. Sutton tells me he has a grandpappy back there who pitched hay up to the time he was 89. Now 90 and complains about his legs going back on him.

Crack-Ups Go Up When Stocks Go Up, Says Cop

TYLER, Texas, (P)—The rise and fall of the stock market is reflected in the way people drive, says Capt. Walter Elliott of the Texas highway patrol.

"Not only traffic violations but other law violations increase when the market is on the rise," he says. "When the market is falling, people quiet down again. I don't know why it is, but it is what I find."

Movies Get Most Of Villagers' Dimes

WASHINGTON, (P)—Movies draw more family dimes in U. S. villages and small towns than any other form of amusement.

The U. S. Bureau of Home Economics finds that non-relief families spend thirty cents out of every amusement dollar for moving picture shows in typical villages throughout the country. In the southeast it's even higher—36 cents out of the dollar.

WPA OFFICIALS WILL SPEAK HERE MONDAY

A large group of Orange county Democrats is expected to attend the regular weekly luncheon meeting in the Home Cafe Monday noon when several Los Angeles WPA officials will be present to answer questions in connection with the way the relief program is being run in this area.

Owing to the criticism of WPA operations in Orange county during the past weeks, Mrs. M. E. Geeting and H. C. Head, prominent Democratic leaders, recently held a conference in Senator William Gibbs McAdoo's office in Los Angeles.

Out of this conference came the agreement that WPA officials from Los Angeles headquarters will appear at the Democratic luncheon next Monday to explain some of the things that have been under discussion.

It is expected that Democrats particularly interested in this subject will ask questions of these officials. In addition to this, there will be a representative for one of the gubernatorial candidates speaking for 15 minutes of the luncheon period.

Complaints have been coming to the attention of leading Democrats that Orange county men are being displaced on WPA employment rolls by workers from outside the county.

A similar series of complaints the first of the year brought about an investigation of the employment policy in Orange county with the result that WPA officials in Los Angeles agreed to make certain changes. The principal grievance at that time was against the chief timekeeper in this area who came from another county. The man holding the position was described as dealing unfairly with local workers, and WPA officials removed him from Orange county.

Harbor Blamed For $3,000,000 Damage in Suit

SANTA MONICA. (AP)—Suits totaling $3,000,000 against the city of Santa Monica and 12 individuals have been filed in superior court as the result of the building of the Santa Monica breakwater for the city's yacht harbor.

Chief among the plaintiffs is the Jonathan club, suing for $500,000, which charged that since the breakwater was constructed it has resulted in the necessity of walking a quarter mile to get to the ocean.

Because the breakwater changed the currents, sand is being swept from the south side of the pier, denuding of sand from this portion of the beach, and depositing sand on the north side, the complaint charged.

Billion Dollars in PWA Jobs Started, Ickes Tells F. D. R.

ABOARD CRUISER HOUSTON, IN GALAPAGOS ARCHIPELAGO. (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold I. Ickes notified President Roosevelt aboard the Houston today that up to July 27, 3816 PWA projects, involving a billion dollars in construction, have been started or were ready to be started.

The cabinet officer told the President the projects, for permanent public improvements, were sending a steady stream of large orders for materials into industrial channels. He said numerous other applications were being received from all parts of the country daily for additional projects.

Couple Helps to Catch Hit-Runner

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California Highway patrol blinked a little on this one.

An officer wrote in praising a motorist. Captain W. E. Riley took occasion to commend Karl G. Johnson of Carpinteria, and his wife, for "valuable services" in helping to run down a hit-run driver.

The Johnsons obtained the license number and description of the car and driver, notified the patrol, and voluntarily testified in court. A jury found the offender guilty in five minutes.

Champion Out of Cheyenne Roundup

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Withdrawal of Burel Hulkey, 1937 world champion bronc rider, left the field wide open today as cowhands pocketed "go round" money and set their eyes on championship gold in Saturday's finals of the Frontier days rodeo.

The Salmon, Idaho, champ was forced out of competition from injuries suffered when a horse he rode Wednesday fell against the chutes.

Oil Companies Ask Lower Assessment

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Reductions of $1,500,000 in the assessed valuation of oil properties in the new Wilmington field are sought in petitions before the board of supervisors by four oil companies. The claim was made that excessive estimates of recoverable oil were made.

Sleepy Burglars Go to Bed in Victim's House

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Arthur R. Flanagan took a look at the beds and decided the burglars who stole $1000 in silverware while his family was on vacation must have been pretty tired.

He said they evidently had donned his best pajamas and picked out the softest beds in the house, with signs that they had spent several nights in the place.

Rings and other jewelry were used as a medium of exchange before the invention of coinage.

SNOW WHITES PREVIEW AUG. 5

NEWPORT BEACH. (AP)—A "preview" of all local contestants for the honor of representing the Harbor district as Snow White in the Balboa Tournament of Lights Aug. 20, will be held here Aug. 5, it was decided today.

Final selection of the tournament's Snow White will be held Aug. 8, when entries from many Southern California communities will parade in front of the judges at the Ritz theater.

L. A. APPLIES FOR FLOOD AID

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Designed to give early employment to several thousand men now on relief, formal application of Los Angeles county for $18,843,000 for flood control work was made recently by the county board of supervisors to Maj. Gen. Julian L. Schley, chief engineer of the United States army engineering corps.

Silver Scarce; Needed for Fair's Betting Machines

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Silver dollars are becoming temporarily scarce in Sacramento—and for a reason.

Banks are "hoarding" them in anticipation of the California State fair, when they'll be needed in the pari-mutuel betting booths.

It costs $1.25 per $1000, bank officials said, to ship the coins to the federal reserve bank in San Francisco and then have them shipped back during fair week.

STUDENTS WIN U. S. C. HONOR

Incubator Baby Raised on Farm In Turkey Brooder

VICTORVILLE. (AP)—The chances are pretty good that Donna Ruth Reche—three weeks of age and three and one-half pounds in weight—will develop into a "regular young turk."

Donna Ruth is getting her start in life from an incubator improvised from two cardboard boxes and a turkey brooder. The homemade incubator was made by cowboys on the Godshall-Himsen ranch, of whose number Donna Ruth's father, Walter Reche, is one.

LEGIONNAIRES, AUXILIARY AT PARK PICNIC

Three hundred fifty members of the Santa Ana American Legion and its auxiliary attended a picnic at Santiago park last night and were entertained by the Legion drum corps, auxiliary drill team and three acts of vaudeville.

Ralph Mitchell of the Legion and Mrs. Al Jones of the auxiliary headed the committee in charge of the event. Grant Kyle was chairman of the program committee.

The drum corps of 60 members was led by Glenn Cave, and the auxiliary drill team was headed by Alice Dodder. Mary K. Harper, Santa Ana girl, rendered several pleasing vocal numbers. Two acts of Orpheum circuit vaudeville from Los Angeles, consisting of an accordion player and a tap dancer, completed the program.

One of the highlights of the activity, preceding the basket dinner, was a soft ball game between the officers of the Legion and the

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

"God made the world
Then made a man one day;
Man made metal monsters
And frightened God away."
—Virginia Spiker.

Someone has aptly said that "the law of the survival of the fittest is the law of the jungle." There with fang and claw the giants fight it out until the weaker succumbs unto the stronger. Brute strength triumphs over the weak without concern for anything else except temporary self interests.

The writer wonders if Virginia Spiker, when she penned the verse above, did not sense that there was something of the same spirit rampant today among humankind. Undoubtedly she reasoned that for mankind there was a higher, a better way. Evidently she envisioned a social order that should have for its goal of achievement something more fraternal in the way of relationships between human groups than a mere "survival of the fittest."

Her words seem to indicate that when her mind had run over the whole course of human history she was forced to admit that things are not what they should be. There seems to be little variance in her conclusions from that which is universally acknowledged among the citizens of the nations of the world.

In despotic forms of government there is no attempt to hide the fact that the "law of the jungle" prevails. Justification for such rule is made on the premise that the end in view justifies the means used to attain it. The idea of the stronger and more fortunate having any obligation to look after the material, physical, or spiritual interests of the weaker members of the social order existing under such rule is given little, if any consideration. Government in such instances is for the ones who rule and the people are merely the cogs in the mills that grind out the special privileges enjoyed by those in power.

In America we condemn such despotism as verging on the uncivilized and as incompatible with the principles of brotherhood which we maintain should exist between humankind. We decry the right of the few to rule the many and declare that government and the form of the social order should referee the privileges of citizenship and the opportunities of life fairly and equitably to all whether they be rich or poor, learned or unlearned.

We express our plaudits, style our form of government, and loudly proclaim our dislike for tyranny and then allow practices to creep into our business methods that nullifies the spirit of brotherhood and leads along the road that unchecked will lead to tyranny. Unfortunately, it is true that when men's families are in need the temptation is great for "men to sell their souls for bread." That is what is happening in America today. Men are afraid to cry out against the encroachment upon the liberty guaranteed unto them as citizens which they are witnessing as taking place, because to do so endangers them to loss of the employment being enjoyed or to the business profits being received.

Men are fighting among themselves for the right to eat and live. The old law of the jungle that has prevailed among brute kind from the beginning, "the survival of the fittest" is in full operation. It brings death in the jungle and it will create a jungle out of civilization unless it is supplanted with the law of the spirit of brotherhood. It is still true that "the nations that forget God are turned into hell." And Virginia Spiker must have visioned such as that when she wrote:

"Man made metal monsters
And frightened God away."
The machine age and the economic control exercised by the masters of finance in America and in much of the civilized portion of the world are mediums being used to the detriment of the general welfare of American and world citizens. Monopolistic privileges have become to generally enjoyed by the privileged few. Using their power of centralized wealth they have secured the money and goods while the people go hungry. Their machines have usurped the powers to produce formerly enjoyed by men, with a resultant lack of customers available to buy the goods which their machines would produce. They are like "the one who diggeth a pit for another and falleth into it himself." God is absent from their thoughts and absent from their ways. Their selfish use of metal monsters has frightened God away.

What is the answer? More of God and more of brotherhood in our business and economic practices. How can such be achieved? By all assuming an attitude of "one for all and all for one." Can economic practices be harmonized with such an attitude? Yes. How can it be done? By adopting the Golden Rule practices of the Townsend national recovery plan.

Critics Amazed As Red Sox Press Yankees, Tribe

MIDDLE LINE OF BOSTON BIG SURPRISE

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
For years one of baseball's universal beliefs—like three strikes are out—or putting mustard on your hot dogs—has been that a club entertaining hopes of figuring in the money must have strength down the middle.

Such being the case, it has become increasingly amazing now that Lefty Grove's wing is laid up for repairs, how those Boston Red Sox continue to hang right onto the Yankees and Indians in the American league pennant party.

When this season got under way, few thought the Sox had much chance. The "experts" refused to see Moneybags Yankee's boys because of that middle line. And when Grove went into drydock two weeks ago, everyone immediately foretold their finish.

But since that time, the Sox have won seven and lost three, the latest a doubleheader beating they handed the Chicago White Sox yesterday, 13-8 and 8-5.

Now, that "middle line" runs from the catcher out to where the center fielder waits for fly balls. Back of the mask and pads, the Sox had Gene Desautels, who is strictly no bargain. On paper, the pitching staff, aside from Old Moss, was largely a collection of young unknowns. In center field, Doc Kramer didn't figure to be any world beater, but he has been a most pleasant surprise, batting .315 for the season and .341 in the last 10-game stretch since Lefty's been gone.

But it has been at second base and on the mound where things have been popping. Manager Joe Cronin decided to bring along with young Bobby Doerr at second last year, despite all kinds of criticism. And the kid finally has come through. For the past month or so he has been traveling at a 400 clip, and, for the final 10-game run since the Sox were counted out (by expert opinion), he's been going at .368 and fielding .91.

On top of that, the rookie pitchers have been fooling everyone, for which give a large assist to old Herb Pennock, the one-time ace of the world champion Yankees, who's taken youngsters like Jim Bagby, Emerson Dickman and Dick Mikkiff in hand and taught them the tricks.

The result is, Bagby and Dickman, between 'em, have won 13 games and lost but seven. Dickman sports a five-game winning streak.

Of course, it's always nice to have fellow like Fox and the speedy Ben Chapman around. Fox belted homer No. 28 in yesterday's opener and Chapman drove in four runs, the Sox winning with a five-run blast in the tenth. In the nightcap, Mikkiff, tossed in when the White Sox got rough in the fifth, pitched one-hit shutout ball the rest of the way.

TWO BACK OF TRIBE
This left the Sox only two games back of the Indians, whose game with the Athletics was rained out, and only three back of the pace-setting Yankees, who dropped a 4-3 decision to the St. Louis Browns despite three homers. The Tigers belted the Washington Senators, 12-4.

The Giants ended their five-game losing streak by nipping the St. Louis Cardinals, 2-1, and, naturally, it was King Carl Hubbell who did it with a seven-hit pitching job for his 12th win. Louis Frey's three-run double gave the Cincinnati Reds a 4-2 victory over the Boston Bees. The Pirates pounded out seven runs in a big seventh inning to trample the Phillies, 9-2. The Dodgers and Cubs weren't scheduled.

Still within striking distance of second or third place, Santa Ana's Stars engage Irvine's Bearpicks in the Municipal bowl at 8 o'clock tonight. This game, and the San Bernardino-Anaheim battle, may juggle the National Nightball league standings considerably.

Stan Jacobsmeier will be seeking his third shutout in as many starts, the Santa Ana right-hander having turned back Orange and Brea by 1-0 scores. His battery mate will be Bomo Koral. Either Ira DeBusk or Ray Hodgson will hurl for Irvine.

The rest of the lineup: Bob Mott, lf; Joe Koral, 2b; "Doc" Smith, ss; Tom Young, 3b; Tom Denney, lf; Ray Short, cf, and Bris Richardson, rf.

Treesweet vs. Alliance.

A "fluke" hit, which dropped next to the leftfield foul line between the Elks' leftfielder and shortstop, ruined a second City league no-run, no-hit game for Lyle Morse, who came out of inactivity to pitch the B. P. O. E. to a 9-0 victory over Alliance Mutual Life Insurance last night.

The low-hitting joust between M. E. South and Treesweet Products developed into a pitcher's battle, which Walt Hanley of Treesweet winning 2-1 in the current-raiser.

Brownie McCain, Alliance third baseman, broke Morse's hitless bubble in the sixth inning. It was the only semblance of a hit off the former Anaheim Valencia ace, who whiffed 12 batters and allowing only one blow to leave the infield. Morse won, 6-0, over his performance.

M. E. South got its run in the second and Treesweet tied up the game in the fifth on a walk and an error. In the last of the tenth, Marvin Barnhart worked Joe Rapier for a walk. Hoffer singled sharply through short and Elmer Rhoton duplicated Hoffer's bludge for the winning run.

Wuxtry! Comedians, Leading Men Tangle at Wrigley Field in Charity Baseball

More than one Hollywood actor will be reaching for the liniment bottle tomorrow. The motion picture industry will be a house divided, with the leading men teaming against the comedians in baseball at Wrigley field, 2 p. m., for the benefit of charity.

Proceeds will be used to aid the invalids at Mt. Sinai hospital, and for Theater Authority to carry on its relief work among indigent sick actors of Hollywood.

LONG BEACH WINS RIGHT TO DRILL FOR OIL

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The city of Long Beach was jubilant today in its long legal fight to establish its title to tideland beaches and its right to drill for valuable oil deposits beneath them.

The California supreme court yesterday granted the city and the board of harbor commissioners a writ of mandate to compel Port Manager D. A. Marshall to take bids for drilling equipment.

Marshall had refused to take the bids, in a friendly move to make possible the mandamus action direct to the supreme court, to avoid delay of lower court suits and appeals. City officials have been much perturbed because private wells on adjacent property to the city's tidelands are already draining away rich deposits discovered in 1937.

The state of California, through the office of Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb, intervened in the suit, contending that the actual title to the tidelands still remained in the state, and that the profits from the oil drilling should go to all the people, instead of to a single community.

100 'Bombs' Fired On 100th Birthday Of N. Y. Woman

HASTINGS-ON-HUDSON, N. Y. (AP)—The bursting of 100 "bombs" today saluted the achievement of the decade-long ambition of Mrs. Cecilia "Grandma" McConnell. She was born in Decatur, Ill., heard the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates, saw the great Mormon exodus in 1848 when a 150 wagon caravan passed her father's farm in Iowa, and bore five children without a doctor in attendance.

"I like politics," she said today, "but I don't like swing music. It's abusive."

French Prepare for Air Raids in War

PARIS. (AP)—The French cabinet named an inspector general for passive defense today as measures were speeded up to protect France from air raids in event of war.

The ministers, meeting with President Albert Lebrun, appointed General Jean Aube to supervise the defense preparations.

Anti-air raid maneuvers will be held in the German frontier region and a plan was disclosed to set aside half the Paris subway system in time of conflict for use as bomb proof shelters.

The most voracious and largest of the barracudas is the picuda, which reaches a length of six feet.

British Destroyer Idle as Spanish Plane Sinks Ship

LONDON. (AP)—The British government's disclosure that the British destroyer Hero stood by without retaliation when a Spanish insurgent plane bombed and sank the steamship Delwyn Wednesday in the British-occupied port of Gandia, Spain, aroused bitter Laborite comment today as the house of commons recessed until Nov. 1.

Col. John Llewellyn, civil lord of the admiralty, made the disclosure after Richard Austen Butler, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, had related that the attack appeared deliberate.

6 NAVYMEN WIN HONORS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Swanson has sent letters of commendation to Lieut. George K. Huff of San Francisco and five enlisted men for rescuing about 140 persons in the harbor of Sydney, Australia, last Feb. 13. The latter included Seaman First Class William E. Briley of Long Beach, Calif.

Lieut. Huff and the enlisted men, attached to the U. S. S. Louisville, dived overboard from the cruiser to assist in rescuing the passengers when a harbor launch capsized and sank as the Louisville sailed from the harbor during its attendance at the Snyder sesquicentennial celebration early this year.

UNION TIES UP OREGON TUNA

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP)—Union restrictions and state health regulations prevented delivery of 5000 pounds of Tuna, one of the first commercial catches of the season, here today.

The fish, appearing off the Oregon coast in marketable quantities for the second year, were in danger of spoiling because the Pacific Coast Fishermen's union declared the cargo contraband. Union fishermen have been forbidden to search for albacore pending a price settlement.

Buyers and the Fishermen's union agreed to a California price of 10 cents for rounds, and 10% cents for dressed fish. Union men said buyers had offered five cents here.

Charles Stephens' boat, the Donna B., docked at Newport yesterday with 14,000 of tuna taken in two days 100 miles off Depoe bay.

Blenkle's going to New York on the money he doesn't win.

Duke's Castle Burns to Ground

ZELL AM SEE, Germany. (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor must start house hunting again.

The 12th century Mittersill castle which the Windsors rented several months ago with the intention of occupying it next September burned to the ground today.

Carpenters, plumbers and painters were at work conditioning the Austrian castle for former King Edward VIII of Great Britain when the fire started. The cause was not known.

M'ADOO ASKS STATE PROBE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator McAdoo (D., Cal.) asked the senate campaign expenditures committee today to investigate contributions received by all senatorial candidates in California.

At the same time, he asserted in a telegram that charges by a political opponent that federal job holders were being forced to contribute to his campaign fund came from "desperate men who do not hesitate to resort to slander and libel to gain their ends."

The charges were made by James W. Mellen of Los Angeles, one of the candidates opposing McAdoo for the Democratic nomination.

McAdoo told the committee that "sternly disapproving" such practices, he would prefer defeat "without such contributions to victory with them."

Over 10% million women were gainfully employed in the U. S. at the time of the 1930 census, six times as many as in 1870.

Juice Industry Held Important To Orange Men

This is third of a series of articles on the citrus situation. The Santa Ana Journal opened its columns to an "open forum" discussion of the county's leading industry.

By E. G. WARNER

Replying to your request of recent date that I express my opinion as to the cause of the prices of oranges. So far this year I will say the way they have been advancing for the past 10 days leads one to think that perhaps the least said is the best.

However, I think several things have entered into the cause for the prices we have been receiving for several years past: first, the purchasing power of the people has been at such a low ebb that they have not had the money to buy anything but necessities, such as pork and beans, potatoes and flour, bread and butter, etc.

For several years competition for the juice manufacturers has been on the increase. Tomato juice, which has been our greatest competition, has jumped from 200,000 cases a few years ago to 15,000,000 cases of 24 cans each last year. Pineapple juice has increased from almost nothing to five million cases this past year.

These are some of the reasons why the orange industry has been in the "dumps" for the past few years. Weather conditions have not been very favorable this summer. A good hot summer would have a tendency to boost the sale of oranges and orange juice.

Eventually all of our oranges, except the very best grades, will have to go into juice in order to compete with the above canned juices. This will have a tendency to raise the prices on those we do ship east.

PROBATION FOR SIX YOUTHS ASKED HERE

Probation hearings for six Wintersburg district youths accused of a long series of burglaries were begun today in superior court, then continued to next Friday by Superior Judge James L. Allen.

One companion already had been arraigned in juvenile court, and another was certified to that court today when probation officers found he was but 16 years old.

Facing possible jail sentences on their pleas for probation are Ralph and Manuel Ortiz, Robert Ingersoll, Frank Contreras, Leo Kanawyer and Claude Sievert. Judge Allen heard testimony by Kanawyer and Sievert today, the latter testifying he had been a WPA worker and had been getting $4 a day for killing mosquitoes.

The eight youths were nabbed by sheriff's officers on charges of burglarizing the Marvin Stroud pumphouse July 16.

Dr. McFarland, New Moderator, Back From Church Meet

Dr. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Santa Ana, returned today from the annual session of the Presbyterian synod in Santa Barbara, at which he was elected moderator for the entire California-Nevada synod for the next year.

The new moderator, head of the entire Presbyterian organization in the two states, will be formally welcomed home at the special service in the Presbyterian church tomorrow. The board of trustees has issued a call to all church members to attend the homecoming service.

Brea Man, 65, Asks Probation on Morals Charge

Clayton S. Russell, 65-year-old Brea old-age pensioner, asked probation today on his plea of guilty to charges of a morals offense against a five-year-old neighbor girl.

Russell's application will be heard by Superior Judge James L. Allen next Friday. The aged man admitted committing the offense against the little girl July 11 when she came to his house to pick flowers.

Corona Egg Dealer Granted Probation

James E. Banker, Corona egg dealer, was granted three years' probation today by Superior Judge James L. Allen on a charge of felony drunk driving.

As a condition of probation, Banker must repay Ernest Rudolph, injured in an auto crash with Banker's car in Santa Ana canyon July 12, for car repairs and medical expenses.

JUNIOR COLLEGE PLANS ADVANCED AT NEWPORT

Widow Plans Flight to Reno With $50,000, Court Told

14¢ TAX HELD SUFFICIENT FOR PROJECT

Trustees and school officials from eight districts in the county, meeting last night at Newport Harbor High school under the auspices of the South Coast association, heard how a $1,700,000 Greater Junior college could be erected at a 14-cent tax rate the first year with reduced assessments thereafter over a period of 20 years.

The first year $50,000 would be raised. This would require a rate of seven cents. Operating charges would amount to another seven cents during that year. At the twentieth year the rate, exclusive of operating expenses, would have gradually fallen annually to four and three-quarter cents.

Representatives at the meeting adopted a resolution approving the plans for a junior college ordered by the Santa Ana board of education and urged the local trustees to continue their preparations in making application for a PWA grant.

The group also instructed the presidents of the eight school boards to meet before Aug. 9 to consider a proposed site for the junior college. Judge Dodge, president of the Costa Mesa board, was empowered to call the meeting of the presidents. Their recommendations will then be placed before trustees of the eight districts at the next meeting Aug. 9 in the Newport Harbor High school.

It was said at the session last night that the present tax rate Santa Ana is paying for a junior college amounts to 19 cents and that the district outside has an assessment of nine cents.

The 14-cent assessment necessary for erection of a new $1,700,000 junior college plant, it was pointed out, would be a half-way meeting mark between Santa Ana and the districts outside this city. This would raise the sum of $935,000 on the part of the district and the remaining $765,000 would be furnished by the PWA, if the federal government makes the grant.

The individual boards were instructed to find out what possibilities at this time exist in presenting petitions to the voters for the purpose of starting annexation of the eight districts into one greater junior college group. Reports on this matter will be heard at the next session Aug. 9.

County Wide Search Made For Woman

Disappearance of Mrs. Frances Burr, 36, wife of a well-to-do Los Angeles businessman, started a countywide search today by police and deputy sheriffs.

Mrs. Burr vanished Wednesday evening after telephoning from San Clemente to tell her husband, C. J. Burr, she would be home soon. The missing woman had been to San Diego to visit friends, and telephoned her husband after she had been delayed in starting home.

After the telephone call at 6 p. m., there was no trace of her. Her husband described her to deputy sheriffs as dark, wearing a black dress with a gold trim, and a dark hat.

COURT UPHOLDS STATE UNFAIR PRACTICES ACT

The California Unfair Practices act, prohibiting prices under cost and regulating other retailing activities, has been upheld by the state supreme court, according to word received here.

The act was basis for a series of actions against Santa Ana markets brought by the Food and Grocery Bureau of Southern California. During preliminary proceedings here, Superior Judge H. G. Ames held the act constitutional. The supreme court's similar ruling came in a Los Angeles case.

Minister's Cat Thought She Smelled a Rat

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Rev. Harry Lothian chose passages from one of Robert Burns' poems as the text sermon. The passage depicted a man plowing up a nest of field mice.

His congregation listened, then stirred, tittered and finally broke out laughing.

The minister's pet cat had slipped into the church and was walking around and around the pulpit.

Finally, after Rev. Lothian's repeated references to "mice" the cat arched its back, sprang squarely upon the pulpit and began sniffing the pastor's notes.

"Well," said the minister, "the cat must have smelled mice."

SHEPPARD TALKS HERE ON PENSIONS

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard told 250 members of the General Welfare league meeting last night in the Unitarian church that Dr. Townsend's political attitude was the reason for the failure of HR bill 4199 to receive a hearing.

Congressman Sheppard spoke following a talk by his secretary, Harold P. Thoreson. Thoreson attacked Mayor C. T. Johnson of San Bernardino, who seeks election to congress from the 19th district on the Republican ticket.

Thoreson said that Johnson had never contributed "a ten-cent piece" to any Townsend club from the time he obtained a "free membership" into the Townsend club up to three weeks before the Grass Root convention, when the Republicans named Johnson as their favorite candidate to congress.

Sheppard told the group that the three principal pension groups in California should cooperate rather than combat one another, as their underlying principals are much the same. Through cooperation they could be of mutual benefit to one another, he said. He made the pledge that he would continue to fight for pension legislation in Washington, D. C., if re-elected to congress.

Frank Kendall, president of the local welfare group, opened the meeting last night. Sid Wingert of San Bernardino, 19th congressional district chairman of the welfare league, and Herbert Kinney of Santa Ana spoke briefly before Sheppard was introduced.

HELD ON U. S. CHARGE

GRAPE GROWERS VOTE

Two Injured and Two Jailed In Series of Four Traffic Accidents in Orange County

Four Orange county auto accidents yesterday injured two persons and sent two others to jail charged with violation of the county ordinance prohibiting persons from being on the highway in an intoxicated condition.

Mabel Eileen McAvoy, 25, of Santa Ana, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital following an intersection crash at Orange avenue and 16th street in Costa Mesa at 4:20 p. m. Drivers of the two vehicles involved were Gordon B. Cromwell, 40, of Kettleman City and J. R. McAvoy, 30, 1228 N. Broadway, Santa Ana.

When an automobile operated by Earl Pendleton, 28, 523 N. Ford street, Fullerton, ran into a ditch yesterday afternoon at 19th and Anaheim streets, one-half mile west of Costa Mesa, Mrs. Earl Pendleton, a passenger was injured. Pendleton and a friend were charged with being drunk on the highway and lodged in the county jail.

Two other highway mishaps resulted in no injuries. Both accidents occurred at intersections. One of them at Newport road and Main street, at 9:45 a. m. yesterday, involved a car and a truck driven by Fred A. Morehead, 64, and Richard Krahne, 34, both of Tustin. The other wreck occurred at the intersection of Lincoln highway and Hansen road, five miles west of Anaheim. Drivers of the vehicles were Charles J. Schenkel, 42, Los Angeles and Marie Haller, 42, Placentia.

ARTS FESTIVAL OPENS TONIGHT

LAGUNA BEACH.—Frank D. Hevener, president of the board of directors, will officially proclaim the seventh annual Festival of Arts open at 8 o'clock tonight. From the stage of the little theater, Mayor Howard G. Heider, Frank Cuppen and Hevener will extend a welcome to the hundreds of visitors planning to extend the programs from July 29 to Aug. 6.

The festival's theme song, "Laguna," will be presented by Gertrud Seisler, Edith and Marjorie McDonald. It was written by Marshall Stedman.

75-DAY TERM FOR DRIVER

Drunk driving charges landed one Santa Ana man in jail for 75 days in lieu of a fine and cost another Santa Ana man $150 in Santa Ana city court today.

David Campos, 1818 West Fourth street, was fined $150 and committed to county jail when he failed to pay it; Francis Gordon Roy Bent, route 2 box 89, paid $50 and arranged to pay the rest of his $150 fine at $15 a month.

Speeders fined by Judge J. G. Mitchell: Charles F. Dyer, Santa Ana, $10; James L. Donaghe, Fullerton, $8; Manuel G. Uriarte, Anaheim, $8; and Grace Minch, Norwalk, $5. Charles J. Gamble, San Diego, paid $5 for jumping a signal, and Fred P. Jaynes and Joe B. Moralle of Santa Ana were charged $1 each for parking violations.

WIN CITATION IN CONTEST OVER WILL

Charges that Mrs. Katherine Newman, widow of the late John William Newman of Seal Beach, intends to leave for Nevada with nearly $50,000 in personal property of his estate were hurled today as contestants of Mr. Newman's will obtained a citation ordering the widow to appear in superior court Aug. 12.

On affidavits by J. N. Smith and Bernard Newman, sister and brother of the wealthy Seal Beach man, Superior Judge Raymond McIntosh of Sierra county, sitting here, ordered Mrs. Newman to show cause Aug. 12 why she should not be required to post a bond covering value of the personal property, and why she should not be deprived of the $150 monthly family allowance she has been granted pending probate of the estate.

Mrs. Smith and Bernard Newman are contesting the will, which left a $60,000 estate to the widow and her daughter by a former marriage, Ruth S. Whidden of Reno. They charged Mrs. Newman never was legally married to their brother, and is not a legal heir, and accuse her of using undue influence on the elderly man when he made his will.

Their affidavits today alleged that Mrs. Newman shortly will collect as executrix $41,000 in notes, trust deeds and cash, from the estate of Mr. Newman's brother, the late Daniel Newman of Los Angeles, and intends to leave for Reno with the personal property.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By MILLARD BROWNE

Home Movies

Knitted dainties once were, presumably still are, standard equipment for prospective babies. But there's a new item the proud young parents-to-be must consider these days: Movie cameras to record Junior's growth and development.

People with newborn babies, in fact, are best customers for local movie camera dealers (there are a dozen of them), and majority of the members of Orange County's "Eight Millimeter club" joined up after buying small movie machines so they could "can" their fondest family memories on a roll of film.

Newlyweds are second best customers, and people who plan "round-the-world jaunts to pretty well for the movie camera dealers. And if you don't think the hobby is growing, just turn out for a few of the Eight Millimeter meetings, which now attract 50 members, are growing by two or three members each month.

Main purpose of an ordinary Eight Millimeter meeting is to get constructive criticism—not to go watch the antics of a neighbor's child. Once every three months, the club puts on a contest, lets any member enter his best 100-foot roll.

Next contest will be Aug. 17, and members already are searching diligently for the "super shot" that will land them in first place. Winner of the last contest was 16-year-old Harold Witt, with a semi-professional picture show, "The Temptress," which did the continuity, posed the characters, snapped and edited the pictures. Other club members concede it was as good as anything turned out locally. Witt currently is working up his entry for the August contest. "The Queen and the Commoner."

If you ever had the still-photography bug, better think twice before going into movies, enthusiasts warn. Because the bug bites even harder in home movies—in fact, it usually bites the whole family. Club members, mostly men, almost invariably are accompanied by wives at the monthly shows, and some of the women now outdo their husbands.

Manipulating a movie camera is an art that takes months to master. Most common faults of beginners: Moving the camera too fast for panorama shots; underexposure, overexposure, poor composition and background.

Average beginner can't get it through his head that with movies the subject, not the camera, is supposed to move. After he's seen a few jittery rolls and unrecognizable panoramas, though, he eventually learns to keep the camera still.

Collectively, the movie bug bit Santa Ana about a year ago when Sunny Sundquist, Dr. Newell Moore, Bob Hockaday and Jack Kahler started negotiations to form a club. The club started last March, since then has been growing by leaps and bounds. Officers: Dr. Moore, president; Dr. Cassius E. Paul, vice president; Kahler, secretary; Kenneth Morrison, treasurer.

Typical movie enthusiast carries his loaded camera along in his car everywhere he goes; shoots pictures of everything from a beach scene to a dog fight; hopes to see an airplane crashing in time to get his machine in focus; spends around $6 a month for film; uses black-and-white film for ordinary shots, color film for super-shots; covers all family activities as thoroughly as any staff of reporters ever covered a murder; wishes he could afford the new camera he's seen advertised.

Though the principal reason for the movie hobby that the "bug" has bit, local enthusiasts excuse the investment on the practical grounds that a camera will (1) let them record the baby's growth; (2) give a natural, life-like view of loved ones who may pass away in the future; (3) furnish a record of a gay outing that will bring Sunday evening entertainment five years hence, or (4) that there's always the chance they'll get a "lucky shot" that will be worth heaps of money.

For all that, average investment is around $150 (for camera, case, attachments, projector, etc.), while some local movie makers have up to $250 or $300 worth of equipment.

Cameras, prices of which have steadily lowered, cost from around $10 up, but average charge is around $30. (Eastman's least costly camera: $29.05).

Eight-millimeter enthusiasts buy 16-millimeter film, run it through the camera twice. Average enthusiast uses two or three 25-foot rolls (which gives 50 feet of film) each month, and color film now is used about as much as black and white.

Eastman has a virtual monopoly of eight-millimeter film (except Pellex, which is processed in South Gate), sells black and white at $2.25 per roll, color film at $3.75. Price includes processing, nearly all of which is done at the Eastman plant in Hollywood. Processing takes around four days, gets local picture-snappers

LICENSE TAX ON UTILITIES HELD LEGAL

LAGUNA BEACH.—Public utilities operating under franchises in Southern California cities can be charged a regular business license as well as their franchise tax, in the opinion of Louis Burke, Montebello city attorney and attorney for the state league of municipalities.

Burke addressed 60 members of the Orange county league of municipalities at a dinner meeting in Hotel Laguna here last night, explaining provisions of the new state franchise act.

The attorney expressed the opinion that franchises for such utilities as power and gas companies granted only the privilege of using city streets, and that business licenses could apply to utilities—particularly such utilities as electric and gas companies that sell appliances as well as services.

The state constitution grants utilities the right to convey any energy for lighting and water distribution on city streets, Burke explained, but short decisions have held that energy for heating and power do not come under this classification, and that franchise taxes of two per cent of gross receipts are permissible for this type of power.

The new state franchise act, he said, clarifies which part of electric companies' energy is used for power and which for light, setting the taxable power portion at 45 per cent of energy used in average residences. "The new act is optional for utilities, and many of the Southern California companies are continuing to operate under the more complicated provisions of the old law," he said.

Santa Ana was represented at the league meeting by Mayor Fred Rowland and City Engineer J. L. McBride.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS IN G. G.

GARDEN GROVE.—Monthly meetings for Circles of the Woman's Aid society of the First Methodist church were held Wednesday, with Circles Two and Three holding a joint afternoon session at the home of Mrs. E. R. Schneider and number one meeting all day with Miss Mettie Chaffee and Mrs. Ralph Chaffee. Mrs. Schneider with the assistance of Mrs. S. C. Oertly and Mrs. Wilbur Harper served a one o'clock dessert course to the groups meeting at her home. One long table colorfully decorated with Mexican zennias had been arranged in the garden for the service. A devotional service was later led by Mrs. C. N. Franks followed by two marimba solos by Barbara Schreff. Circle Two members had a short business session after which the afternoon was given over to needlework and chatting.

Others attending were Mesdames Percy Prior, Len Wylie, Conrad Schreff, Elmer Landers, Fred Andre, H. Kimball, C. P. Bryan, J. M. Chilson, Don Schnitzger and small son, S. R. Fitz, Wesley Lamb, Charles Edwards, Robert McDonald, William Dales, and master Leo Schreff. Circle One members meeting at the Chaffee home spent the day working on two quilts, their hostesses serving a tray of lunch at noon. The president, Mrs. A. E. Mills conducted a brief business session with Mrs. Paul Applebury leading devotions. Present were Mesdames G. R. Reyburn, W. M. Adland, I. F. German, J. M. Chilson, A. F. Mills, Ralph Agnew, J. Parsons, Wm. Schowalter, Edward Chaffee, W. D. Conser, H. H. Miller, Roy Oldfield, H. Riggs, and S. Riley.

Ross Family Back From Mountains

GARDEN GROVE.—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ross, their daughter, Mrs. Fay Fuller, and son, Glenn, have returned from a week's vacation spent at Hemet and Big Bear. They report fishing at Big Bear usually good. Joining them for a day in the mountains were their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gedney.

highly impatient to see the results.

Average movie lens operated at 1-30 of a second, snaps eight frames per second; Bell and Howell machines have a three-speed shutter, will get faster or slower action when desired. Most home-movie lenses operate down to f3.5, which is fast enough to get any outdoor or indoor daytime shot and some night shots. Special f1.5 lenses are used by a few Santa Anans.

Majority of the local subject matter is home life or travel pictures, and camera enthusiasts concentrate largely on composition, lighting. Most pictures are posed to get a certain effect, although a few local "bugs" use high-powered telescope lenses to get "candid shots" of neighbors a half block away.

Best pictures shown at local club meetings, enthusiasts here concur, were three reels taken by a Los Angeles marine who went to South America in a ship that conveyed President Roosevelt in 1906. The film is a travelogue, taken through various perils.

Best "spot news" movie by a Santa Anan: an airplane in the midst of a crash, taken by City Councilman Plummer Burns, an enthusiastic enthusiast as any one in the club, although he hasn't joined.

3 MAJOR N. B. PROJECTS MAY BE COMBINED

NEWPORT BEACH.—Possibility that three major improvement projects, estimated at more than $461,000, will be combined into one bond election for $285,000, was seen here today. PWA grants would furnish the remaining funds for construction of a new city hall, and sewer and water systems.

City planning commissioners will meet in special session at 1 p. m. tomorrow to discuss the proposal, which came before them at a regular meeting Wednesday. Advisability of listing each of the three improvements in separate bond issues also will be considered.

In addition to the three major projects, the proposed program includes a public wharf and dock landing improvements in Balboa; recreation center and public dock improvements for Corona, Del Mar and bridge, lighting and pier improvements in Newport.

Members of the planning commission reappointed this week by the city council are C. H. Hopkins, chairman; Dr. H. W. Seager, secretary; Fred W. Briggs, Gordon Finley, J. J. Schnitzer and Mrs. Della Williams. Ex-officio members are City Engineer R. L. Patterson, Chief of Police R. R.

Deputies questioned parents of several boys in the neighborhood who promised fatherly lectures and confiscation of slingshots. Brent said the boys had been hurling rocks at the side of his house.

WILDCAT HITS OIL-BEARING SHALES AT MESA

COSTA MESA.—After penetrating an extremely hard formation—presumably the cap rock—for the past 10 days, during which time only 150 feet were drilled, reports from the A. V. Oil and Gas company wildcat well at Placentia and Hamilton streets indicates that the hard shell was broken through Thursday afternoon and at a depth of 4300 feet, the drill now being in brown, sandy, oil-bearing shale.

J. C. Howard, of Taft, representing the Western Plains Oil corporation, has been actively engaged in securing Costa Mesa leases for the past two weeks.

Forty acres lying between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets, on Santa Ana avenue, and directly across town from the test well, has been leased by the A. V. Oil and Gas company. Leases are said to call for a monthly payment of $3 per acre, and stipulate that drilling shall begin within 180 days.

"There's No Place Like Home"

We all have occasion to say that frequently during these months when we go traveling, and almost without exception we say it each time we get back from a trip. And don't you find too that there is no service in marketing like home owned store service?

We like to welcome our customers back when they return from their vacation trips, and we are grateful for the way they look upon us as home folk. Of course that is at least partly due to the fact that we really are home folk. We are in business to have friends and to be a friend quite as much as we are to make a living.

We're proud of the job we have in our community. It means a lot to us to know that we are trusted to make the food selections for the nourishment and well-being of our neighbors and friends. We feel sure that it likewise means a lot to our customers to be able to feel that they are helping a neighbor to prosper, in dealing with us.

But with all this neighborly and friendly consideration we receive, we are mindful of the fact that ours must at all times be the market in our community at which you can purchase food most quickly, conveniently and economically. A great many of our customers find that their marketing dollars go further trading with us. It is natural that this should be so. We buy at the lowest prices because we buy cooperatively with a hundred other independently owned stores.

If you have not visited us, please do so. We believe that you'll agree that there's no place like a home-owned store for pleasant, dependable and low priced food marketing.

FINAL TRIBUTE TODAY FOR DR. O. S. RUSSELL

Santa Ana was to pay a final tribute to Dr. Otto S. Russell, 69, pastor of the First Baptist church here for 13 years, at a brief chapel service in Fairhaven mausoleum at 4:30 p. m. today, following services in the First Baptist church at Los Angeles.

Active pall-bearers for the service here, which was to precede interment in the mausoleum, were Mac O. Robbins, W. J. Taylor, Dr. Cassius Paul, Franklin West and Neal Stanley, all of Santa Ana, and Edwin C. Rundstrom of Anaheim.

Honorary pall-bearers included A. M. Robinson, J. P. Williams, Warren Brakeman, Rola Hays, Charles Nalle, I. L. Marchant and L. C. Fairbanks.

The Rev. Harry E. Owings, present pastor of the First Baptist church, was in charge of the mausoleum service, assisted by the Rev. F. M. Clingan, retired Baptist minister here.

Dr. Russell was active in civic and church work while living in Santa Ana. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alice B. Russell; a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Weeks, and granddaughter, Gloria Weeks, of Santa Ana; and three brothers, Dr. V. L. Russell of Hollywood, C. L. Russell of Oakland and L. B. Russell of San Diego.

Maimed Jaywalker Now Must Go to Trial for Offense

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Anna Lipsky, 48-year-old housekeeper, came to court on crutches today for jury trial on a charge of jaywalking.

Police alleged she was not in a marked-off crosswalk last April 8 when an automobile ran her down and broke her leg.

"Humph!" replied Miss Lipsky. "Even if I was guilty—which I'm not—I've had enough punishment. I'm the one that was knocked down. I got the broken leg. I had to go to the hospital."

"We'll see what a jury has to say."

L.A. Power Seeks Giant PWA Project

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Los Angeles bureau of power and light will furnish a sponsor's share of $19,535,000 toward a PWA project which would include a third transmission line to Boulder dam and buildings in the enlarged civic center, if plans approved by the city council are completed.

Among the new buildings proposed for the civic center are a water and power administration building, costing $6,500,000; police and fire administration building, $2,000,000; health building, $1,000,000; and a music and arts building, $6,500,000.

14-Year-Old Romeo Steals 30 Kisses

CHICAGO. (AP)—Elmer Stelzel's romantic technique, police said today, was to steal a kiss and ride away—on his bicycle.

Elmer is 14. When arrested last night, police said he confessed to hugging and kissing more than 30 women in recent months.

Fourteen of the women victims of the bicycle-riding romeo identified him.

After the showup police said Elmer was not lying when he told them he only picked attractive women.

East Portion of Tunnel Finished

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—But one section of the 13-mile San Jacinto tunnel of the Colorado river aqueduct today awaited completion, as the east portion was "holed through" last night.

Two separate crews are separated by nearly 4800 feet in the west section, however, and before the 18-foot diameter bore, generally regarded as one of the most difficult of all tunnel projects, can be completed several more months must elapse.

Wings Sprouted By Moving Van

WAYNESBORO, Va. (AP)—When several hundred workers at the Dupont textile plant here were ordered transferred to Wilmington, Del., Paul Dupont, jr., son of the Delaware industrialist, trundled out his tri-motored plane.

He loaded it with his bed, trunk, radio, two tables, a chest of drawers and miscellaneous belongings, and hopped off for his new headquarters.

Imperial Power Contracts Out

Prisoner Grilled As Robber Suspect

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—James Bonner, 37, accused by police and department of justice agents of robbing a California bank branch of $400 last June 30, was questioned today by authorities in connection with several other robberies.

Firemen Beat Out Fire, Then Find It's In Dynamite Boxes

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—O. C. Forsman of Flora, Ill., called firemen to put out a fire in his truck. They beat out flames on the floor boards and on some wooden boxes Forsman was hauling to Kentucky.

The firemen "blew up" when Forsman told them what was in the boxes.

It was 400 pounds of dynamite. Spanish is the native tongue of 55,000,000 people.

FIRE, BLAST ON CABIN CRUISER

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—One man was slightly burned and three others aboard the 22-foot cabin cruiser Virginia escaped injury today when an explosion occurred on the boat two miles off the breakwater in Los Angeles harbor.

Harvey Spencer, Walnut Park, owner of the cruiser, was the man injured. With him were his wife and two guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Haynes, Long Beach. A passing boat picked them up, and the flames were extinguished.

Customers Wowed By Radio Station WOW; Here's How

OMAHA, Neb.—Listeners of radio station WOW of Omaha had a wow of a time.

The station's line crossed a private circuit during broadcast of a nationally known orchestra, and an unidentified housewife and her husband cut in with an animated discussion over what the husband should eat.

Telephone calls to WOW piled up for a few minutes before the homey talk was cut out by switching to an emergency station line.

EX-STAR SAYS GEMS STOLEN

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Marguerite De La Motte, a silent screen star, reported to police today her home had been robbed of a sapphire bracelet and dinner ring and an emerald ring valued at $4500.

Investigators said the burglar apparently cut his hand in breaking the glass in a French window to obtain entrance, as blood marks were found on the patio floor.

Ontario Premier Gives Up Plane and Takes a Train

SKAGWAY, Alaska. (AP)—His 8000-mile airplane tour of Canada and Alaska interrupted by stormy weather, Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario arrived here late yesterday by train from Carcross, Y. T., surprised at the "fuss" his absence the night before had created.

Hepburn's plane was forced down at Carcross by adverse weather, Wednesday night on a flight from Whitehorse to Juneau. He was accompanied here by one of his flying companions, Bernard F. Smith, New York broker, while his other companion, J. P. Bickell, Toronto financier, remained with the plane and its pilot, Jimmy Towne, at Carcross.

OFFICER HELD AS ATTACKER

Copenhaver accused Moore of pursuing him several blocks last July 16, cursing him, smashing a window of his car with a pistol and threatening him with the weapon.

MARKET COMMENT

Introducing Mr. Fred Triplett

Fred Triplett holds the record, in the Grand Central Market, as being the oldest lease holder. Fred opened his Cleaning and Pressing establishment in the G. C. the day the doors were thrown open to the public. . . . and there he is.

Triplett was born in Grandview Indiana, July 1st. . . . you'll have to guess the year. . . . (Fred claims it happened sometime between the Civil and Spanish wars.)

After receiving his early education at Evansville, Triplett headed the call of the south and traveled all over the southern end of the United States. . . . then the call of the coast got the best of him, and he landed in Santa Ana in 1921. . . . going into business in the Grand Central Market the following year.

The Triplett family consists of Mr. and Mrs. and the two children, one boy and a married daughter that presented him with a grand child.

The hot weather got you? . . . If it hasn't, we beg of you to be a good neighbor and tip us off to how it ain't supposed to be hot. . . . we've cooked!

Vacation is all over with for McGimpsey, the purveyor of groceries at the Sycamore entrance to the market. Mac had a swell time, from all reports, and is ready again to dish out the same first class service he has always rendered.

That time is here again, darn it. . . . it's beginning to get so that a fellow can't turn his radio on without the pleading voice of some candidate begging for your vote. . . . elections are like death and taxes, they've gotta come and go. . . . and the ear-aches with them. . . . (and the head aches) . . . (where's the aspirin?)

Bob McFarren, of Bob's Smoke Shop is beginning to get the jitters. . . . his forthcoming wedding is sneaking up close. . . . it's due to happen within the next two weeks. . . . the cigars oughta be swell since he runs the place they sell'em in. . . . don't crowd boys!

Notice that bloom on the cheeks of Bert Jeanes lately? That's just a sample of what the deck of a seagoing boat will do with Bert. Bert has been communing with Neptune in quest of the elusive tuna, albacore, and what have you. . . . for his fish market in the center of the G. C.

Mrs. Louis McCann is back on the job again at the Broadway Produce, after a nice long vacation at Yosemite. . . . and looking like a million.

Now Mrs. Mac's only real worry is how to induce her real working husband to drop the reins of the fruit and vegetable business long enough to go away for a couple of weeks and rest. . . . It wouldn't be a bad idea, Mac, even a horse goes to pasture once in a while!

Wonder when Vi Morrison is going to take that vacation she has been promising herself. . . . and what in the name of a name is Art, the head of the Dunkers club, holding off for? Everybody in his shop has had their fun. Get going Art, 1938 is coming quick. . . . and we haven't heard a word from George Klamm, the pickled pork artist, about when or where he'll head for this year. . . . Charley Eaton still has his eyes turned to the north. . . . looks like he'll land in Yosemite. . . .

Hugh Bown, in the Goodrich Service Stores is as proud as a new papa of the facial, finger-wave, and whatnot his grounds have had in the past couple of weeks. . . . it really is a great improvement.

And take our word for it or not, the facials and fingerwaves dishied out at the Grand Central Beauty Parlor are nothing to sneer at. . . . Dora knows here curliques.

In case you think you can't stand another fraction of a raise in the thermometer, we'll tip you off on how to thank your lucky stars about sunburn or other. . . . money into the middle of the market and watch the steam pore out of the pressing machine Fred Triplett operates. . . . and we're goofy if you don't get an idea you're well off as you are.

What's What 'Bout Traffic

By CAPT. H. C. MEEHAN (Captain, Orange County Unit, California Highway Patrol)

Traffic questions should be sent to Chief Cato, at Sacramento. Answers will appear in this paper at an early date.

Q—Will you please tell me if a person who is blind in one eye will be given an operator's license if this party could qualify in the other traffic tests? A. A. R.

A—One eye is no barrier to a person securing an operator's license if the applicant has necessary vision in the remaining eye, proper field of vision and can demonstrate his ability to drive a motor vehicle in the presence of an examiner. Such people generally are restricted to operation of vehicles equipped with adequate mirrors on their blind side. Experience of the department indicates that persons who have only partial vision in one eye are more of a hazard than are those who are blind in one eye.

Q—Can the driver of a United States mail truck be arrested for a traffic violation while engaged in the handling of mail? R. A. J.

A—Our officers have explicit instructions to exercise all care when meeting with such cases so as not to unnecessarily retard nor obstruct the orderly process or delivery of mail.

Q—The driver of a laundry wagon often stops in front of our home which is on a slight incline. Little children play in the street, and yet he jumps out of his small truck leaving the motor running. Is that permitted? E. L. N. O. B.

A—The vehicle code specifically provides that no person driving, or in control of, or in charge of, a motor vehicle shall permit it to stand on any highway unattended without first effectively setting the brakes thereon and stopping the motor thereof.

246 ELECTION PRECINCTS FOR AUG. 30 VOTE

Two hundred forty-six election precincts were established today for Orange county voters in the Aug. 30 primary election, as County Clerk B. J. Smith listed 1472 judges, inspectors and clerks to supervise balloting.

The number of precincts is the largest in the county's history, latest addition being a new precinct in Laguna Beach.

Election officials, one judge, two inspectors and three clerks for each precinct except for Trabuco and Loftus precincts, where four officials will suffice, will be paid a total of $11,776 for their services Aug. 30, or $8 per day each, under an ordinance adopted by the board of supervisors.

Santa Ana will have 71 precincts, Anaheim 24, Fullerton 24, Orange 20, Huntington Beach 8, Garden Grove and Buena Park 5, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach and Costa Mesa 7, Placentia, Tustin, Cypress, Seal Beach and La Habra 2 each, in addition to others in other communities and outlying districts.

Smith said type was being set for approximately 130 different types of ballots, necessitated by overlapping of townships, supervisorial and assembly districts and party ballots and rotation of names of candidates required by law. Sample ballots will reach voters about 15 days before the election.

A farmer who a century ago could grow five acres of corn can today, by the use of modern machinery and equipment plant, cultivate and harvest 30 times that much.

Cynthia Glenn is unpredictable. Hence, Peter Moore, in love with her, is not surprised by her latest "crazy scheme." In her absence, he has rented her ancestral Southern home to the newly-rich Mrs. Potter-Payne, who is trying to create a "background" for herself with the hope of marrying her daughter and son, Irene and Tommy, to an Englishman and his sister, Bruce and Beatrice Kerr, her house guests. Cynthia suddenly decides to turn author and put the Potter-Paynes in a book. Calling herself "Jennie Smith," a friend of Cynthia Glenn's, she persuades Mrs. Potter-Payne to hire her as secretary. She overhears a conversation between the Kerrs indicating that they are in financial straits. When a silver teapot is stolen, she suspects Bruce. She phones for Peter, but almost immediately calls off their appointment. The teapot having reappeared, meanwhile, Mrs. Potter-Payne is upset because Tommy and Bruce plan to take up farming—which would dash her hopes of installing her children in the castle the Kerrs claim to own.

CHAPTER XVIII
BRUCE rose from the breakfast table. He smiled at the others.

"If you'll excuse me, I'll get into some old clothes and do some work in the garden."

"But my dear boy!" Mrs. Potter-Payne protested. "Why should you do that? I certainly didn't invite you down here to work as my gardener!"

"I know—but I like working in the garden. Besides, I told Tommy I'd spray his roses while he was out shopping for a farm."

Mrs. Potter-Payne said nothing, but she thought plenty. Imagine asking a charming Englishman down here to make love to your daughter, and then having him spend his time spraying poison on a lot of silly little bugs!

She waited until Bruce had left the room, then turned to Beatrice.

"Why didn't you go with Tommy?"

"Because he didn't ask me," was Beatrice's prompt reply.

Irene looked up from the morning paper. "You wouldn't have gone even if he had asked you, would you?"

"No, frankly, I wouldn't. I can't seem to feel the same interest in farms that Tommy and Bruce are experiencing." She pushed back her chair. "I think I shall go up and write some letters home. I'd like them to catch a fast boat sailing from New York on Saturday."

"I hope," said Mrs. Potter-Payne, "that everything is all right at home—at the castle?"

"Oh, yes, quite."

When Beatrice had gone, Irene folded the paper, and faced her mother.

"Why don't you pick Tommy up and throw him at her and be done with it?" she asked, somewhat crossly.

"Irene! What a thing to say!"

"I can't help it. Mother, you're so darned obvious, it makes me ill!"

"Well, stop paying so much attention to what I say about Tommy and Beatrice and do something yourself!"

"What, for instance?"

"Accept Bruce! That's what!"

"But I thought you weren't so keen on my marrying him, now that he may settle down on a farm instead of returning to his castle? That's the way you talked last night."

Mrs. Potter-Payne fluttered her hands helplessly.

"I'm hoping Tommy will get that farm idea out of his head. Besides, Bruce might soon tire of farming. He'll surely return to his castle eventually!"

"I see," said Irene wearily. "You are just a living picture of hope springing eternal! She rose. 'I've got a little job to do, so I might as well get busy.'"

"Don't tell me you're going to spray bugs!"

"No, darling," Irene patted her mother's cheek. "Although you would like for me to go out in the garden with Bruce, now wouldn't you?"

"Yes, I would!"

"We'd make such a romantic picture, wouldn't we—spraying the poor little bugs side by side!" Irene laughed. "No—I'm going up and resting those pearls of mine. The string broke last night when I took them off."

Mrs. Potter-Payne sighed heavily as her daughter left her. . . .

MEANWHILE, Peter, after Cynthia's second phone call, had leaped into his car. He high-tailed away, driven out to Miss Kate's cottage. He now faced her in her living-room.

"In spite of the fact that I've got endless appointments, and in spite of the fact that it was out of my way to come by here, Miss Kate—here I am! And I'm good and sore!"

"What about, Pete?" Miss Kate asked, mildly. "Come on back to the kitchen, wouldn't you—spraying the poor little bugs side by side!"

"I haven't time, thanks. And we can talk right here!"

"All right. But don't act so cross!"

"I am cross! What's the idea of Cynthia's waking me up at the crack of dawn to tell me to come here at once, and then calling me only half an hour later to tell me not to come at all! She sounded like she was a bit 'teched' in the head! What in heck is it all about?"

"Well, you see, Pete, she—"

"What did she mean by that cryptic remark. 'It's turned up again.' What's turned up again?"

"The silver teapot."

"What silver teapot?"

"Her grandmother Glenn's."

"Do you mean the silverware has started doing disappearing acts?" Peter demanded.

MISS KATE hesitated. She was not sure just how much Cynthia would want to tell Peter.

"Well, for some unknown reason, Cynthia got the idea that the pot had been stolen," she said finally, choosing her words carefully, "and she wanted your advice. But later, she found it on the sideboard, where it always sits. That's all, Pete."

Peter made an impatient gesture. "Imagine getting me up at dawn about a thing like that!"

Miss Kate eyed him a moment. "Are you sure those Potter-Paynes are really to be trusted?" she asked.

"Of course! Mrs. Potter-Payne gave the biggest bank in New York as reference. You certainly aren't thinking they'd stoop to stealing silver teapots, are you?"

Miss Kate ignored the question. "And the Kerrs. How about them?"

"They were vouched for by Mrs. Potter-Payne."

"And that should make them all right, shouldn't it?"

"Of course it should!" Peter picked up his hat. "And you tell Cynthia for me that, if she wants to go on getting three hundred dollars a month for her house, she had better stop being suspicious of her tenants!"

"All right, Pete, I'll tell her. . . . But don't you think you'd better pay a little more attention to her, and — and less to Irene Potter-Payne?"

"No—I don't! Besides, she does not want me to pay attention to her! Don't forget, Miss Kate, that she is writing a book!"

With that, Peter slammed out.

FORD COMPANY HELD VIOLATOR OF LABOR ACT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A labor board trial examiner ruled today that the Ford Motor company had violated the Wagner labor act by "spying" and discrimination at its Buffalo, N. Y., assembly plant.

The examiner, Francis M. Shea, recommended that the company rehire 50 CIO unionists and cease "interfering" with union activities.

Shea, listing eight methods of alleged violation of the law, said the company's service men had spied on union meetings and on men at work. At the same time, he added, it "disseminated propaganda" to discourage membership in the United Automobile Workers of America.

The findings were based on a 12-day hearing in Buffalo last winter on charges of unfair labor practice brought by the union.

Shea held that 17 men were discharged for union activity and 33 others were not re-employed after laying off because of their union membership. He dismissed discrimination charges with respect to 12 other workers.

The company was given 10 days to comply with Shea's recommendations. Meanwhile, however, it may file exceptions to his report and request oral arguments before the board.

Thousands of Children in Orange County Play With Toys Made in NYA Shop Here

Five thousand Orange county boys and girls 12 years of age and under are happier today because of the Santa Ana NYA toy factory on West Fourth street. For this shop has furnished NYA toy loan offices in Santa Ana, Brea, Garden Grove, and Huntington Beach with a plentiful supply of bright-colored playthings, which in turn are loaned to the youngsters at no cost to their parents.

Forty-eight NYA project workers have made hundreds of toys since the factory on West Fourth street was opened slightly more than a year ago.

The toys may be obtained by any child. First item which is given is usually the smallest plaything in the shop. It is loaned for a period of six weeks, and if after this length of time the youngsters has taken good care of the object, he is eligible to borrow another item for a similar period.

All playthings which cannot be properly sterilized upon return by the original borrower are given as a gift to the person first securing the object at the close of the six weeks' loan.

Some of the most attractive toys consist of rag dolls, attractively attired in bright clothes, small furniture, large enough to be actually used by boys and girls under 12 years of age, and decorative toys for brightening the youngsters' rooms.

The young boys prefer stick horses and wheelbarrows. The older ones are fascinated mostly by various types of games and puzzles, according to L. Z. Edge, project instructor. Little girls enjoy rag dolls the most, and most of these are boy or girl like-nesses, because the managers of the toy factory have found they are far more popular than animal dolls. "You'd be surprised the number of boys who borrow dolls, too," Edge explained.

Shortly after Walt Disney's feature-length cartoon motion picture, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was shown in theaters throughout the county, a demand for likenesses of the dwarfs came into prominence.

So, the toy factory at once started manufacturing dolls of "Snow White" and her dwarf friends. It wasn't long, Edge recalls, before we learned that the two dwarfs, "Happy" and "Sneezy" were in great demand. "Snow White" was on the shelves of the four libraries in the county most of the time, and both boys and girls frankly told us they did not like "Grumpy."

About 50 per cent of the material for the toys is made from scraps furnished the NYA by the surplus commodities department of the government. Rags going into the dolls are discarded bits of materials from the WPA sewing projects in the county, for example, and a large proportion of the snappy furniture sets are made from old fruit boxes. By thoroughly cleaning the cloth scraps and with skilled sewing, dolls available to the customers of the loan libraries are created. NYA workers, with the use of machin-

C. M. LIBRARY SETS RECORD

COSTA MESA.—More loans were made Tuesday at the Costa Mesa library than on any previous day this year. Miss Sarah Conant, librarian, 237 volumes having been given out.

A countywide drive is being made to encourage vacation reading among school children. As an added incentive, special diplomas will be presented all children who read and report on eight books.

Prospective contestants are asked to leave their name and address at the library, also the name and author of all books read during the summer. Many new children's, as well as adult books, are being supplied to local library at present.

The library in Santa Ana is open mornings from 9 to 12 daily, except Saturday and Sunday. Other branches are open from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Besides manufacturing toys, the factory also makes public library files and boxes to hold objects which the WPA archeological project workers dig up. A photography project, a branch of the toy-making activity, was recently put underway.

Exaggerated Nationalism And Radicalism Assailed by Pope in Addressing Pupils

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy. (AP)—A Vatican city news service today quoted Pope Pius XI as terming exaggerated nationalism and exaggerated radicalism "barriers raised between men and men—people and people."

It said the pontiff's declaration was part of a long speech delivered yesterday at Castel Gandolfo to a group of students of the College of Propagation of Faith.

The pope also was quoted as defending Catholic action, saying that someone had said that "between Catholic action and the Fascist party there exists an incurable doctrinal divergence."

His concluding remarks were reported as:

"Who injures Catholic action, injures the pope and who injures the pope, dies."

The pontiff's remarks, in which he stressed again the "universality" of the Catholic faith, were uttered as the Fascist regime was pushing a vigorous campaign in favor of its recently promulgated doctrine of race.

(On July 14 a group of professors published a report in which the Italian people were declared to be of Aryan origin. It asserted Jews "do not belong to the Italian race." The report was issued under the Fascist party secretary, Achille Starace, declared the principal task of the ministry of popular culture in 1938 would be "elaboration and discussion of Fascist race principles.")

BALBOA LIQUOR HEARINGS ARE OPENED HERE

Hearings on possible revocation of three Balboa liquor licenses and an application for transfer of a license in Yorba Linda opened here today before Judge Franklin Cole of El Centro, examiner for the state board of equalization.

Facing complaints which may lead to loss of their licenses to sell liquor are E. N. Workman of Workman's Casino, Wilkens' Strand cafe and Eddie's Place, all Balboa cafes.

Stanley W. Paine and Arthur M. McCahan have asked for transfer of a liquor license formerly held by A. P. Garner for the Imperial Inn. Bert Shaw, president of the Yorba Linda Citrus association, was among witnesses called today who opposed granting of the license on grounds the community is against sale of liquor.

DEER SEASON TO OPEN IN 22 COUNTIES AUG. 1

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—A 46-day deer season opens in 22 of the state's 58 counties next Monday (Aug. 1) and extends until September 15.

The season remains unchanged from 1937 with the exception of the limitation of the legal hunting period in Santa Barbara, Ventura and district three, Kern county.

In these three areas, the season runs from Aug. 10 to Sept. 9, set by the department of natural resources at the request of conservation groups.

The remaining 23 counties can put out the open for the business of deer hunting sign on Sept. 16 and let it remain there until October 15.

Game wardens are sending in varying reports to state headquarters here on the prospects in the early-season counties.

Officers in 10 counties say it looks "good." The report from seven others is that the prospects aren't as satisfactory as for last year.

Three wardens came through with an optimistic "better than last season" outlook, while in two more counties a "normal" season is seen.

The bag limit remains two bucks per season, but not more than one in district 1, 2 and 4. At all times the shooting of does, fawns or spike bucks is strictly prohibited. Hunters are warned against taking forked-horn bucks in district 1.

The early season (Aug. 1-Sept. 15) counties are: Alameda, Colusa, Contra Costa, Fresno, Glenn, Kings, Lake, Marin, Mendocino, Merced, Monterey, Napa, San Benito, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Solano, Sonoma, Stanislaus, and Yolo.

INFANT DEATH RATE GAINS

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—An increase in California's infant mortality rate is attributed to a rise in the number of migratory families by Dr. Walter M. Dickie, state director of public health.

Dr. Dickie announced the 1937 death rate was 53.7 per 1000 as compared to 53 per 1000 in 1936. Populous centers showed a decrease, with Los Angeles dropping from 45.5 to 42.5, and San Francisco from 41.6 to 32.2.

The large increases, he noted, were recorded in Kern, Tulare and Fresno counties, where many migratory families have settled.

The rate rose in Kern county from 86.3 to 108.6, Tulare from 65.6 to 89.9 and Fresno from 73.5. "Excluding Mexican infants and infants in the migratory white labor groups, the California rate would compare favorably with that for any commonwealth," the health director said.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

ADVENTUROUS AUTHOR...
A man who lived as he wrote and wrote as he lived was Edward Zane Carroll Judson... better known simply as Ned Buntline. First of the dime novelists, he invented and perfected that technique 12 years before it was popularized by the firm of Beadle and Adams.

Born in New York state in 1823, Ned Buntline ran away to sea when a youngster and became a cabin boy.
At 15 he won a midshipman's commission in the U. S. navy for heroism displayed when a boat capsized in the East river on Feb. 10, 1838. Four years later he resigned to serve in the Seminole Indian war.

Singlehanded, Buntline once captured two murderers and was rewarded $600.00. In 1846 at Nashville, Tenn., he was arraigned for the shooting of one Robert Porterfield, with whose wife Buntline was alleged to have flirted.

NEW YORK STOCKS, Chicago Grains, Banks, Insurance, Investment Fund quotations furnished courtesy Wm. Cavelier & Co., members N. Y. stock exchange, 516 North Main, Santa Ana. Phone 600.

NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK. (U.)—A further promising stock market rally begged down from the home stretch of today's session, and forenoon gains running to a point more were substantially reduced or turned into losses of as much.

Late selling in the steel darkened the market horizon, and even the buoyant mood of the morning slipped with the rest of the list in the final hour.

A little buying support appeared, but before the close, and most leaders closed above their lows. A few specialties retained fair-sized advances.

The market got off to an indifferent start, but soon slanted upward on expanded volume as the automotive group again came into popularity. Dealings slowed appreciably on the set-back. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

With business news still pointing to better things, at least by fall, brokers were inclined to attribute the afternoon's retreat mainly to the desire of in-and-out traders to close their week-end.

Contesting the trend were those, also, who felt Wednesday's sharp tumble, even though it was the widest since the "correction" for the lengthy June-July up-surge.

Prominent in the backward column were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Deere, U. S. Rubber, Oliver Farm, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, General Motors, North American, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Yellow Truck and Allied-Chalmers.

General Motors, which was American Tobacco "B," Greyhound Corp., McIntyre Porcupine, Bendix, Richfield Oil, National Cash Register, Southern Railway and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Pretrial Settlements

Simplification of legal procedure is difficult. Militant against it all the time is the steady accumulation of precedents which weigh so heavily in the practice of law.

A considerable amount of mumbo-jumbo still infests bench and bar, handed down from ancient times when laymen were kept in ignorance of even the simplest forms of procedure, and justice was a professional monopoly.

A new practice which shortcuts the heavy and slow-moving methods of formal trial is the pretrial conference plan now being utilized in Detroit, Boston and Los Angeles.

Attorneys for both sides hold a prior session with the judge and discuss the merits of the case. If they disagree upon the law, the judge frequently can settle the difference on the spot. If their disagreement is upon the amount of damages, that, too, can be adjusted reasonably without the expense of a time-consuming trial. Many points may be similarly settled.

Hundreds of cases are susceptible of such treatment. Others are not, of course. But there is no reason whatever why those that are should be forced to follow the same procedure as those that are not.

This seems a simple, logical and rational innovation. It may not appeal generally to attorneys, for obvious reasons, but it certainly should to litigants who have to pay the heavy costs of trials, and to taxpayers who have to support the courts.

We are inclined to join Chief Justice Waste of the California supreme court in his statement that "the theory is good and, if it meets with cooperation, I think it will work in California courts."

In other words, if lawyers and judges would join to make it successful, it would be successful.

At any rate, the California bar could do no better than to give it an honest tryout.

That Nippon-Russ border fuss needs a Hollywood press agent to snap it up a little if it's to become a first-run war.

Dust Bowl Migrants

The utter futility of all plans so far advanced for solution of the dust-bowl migrant problem becomes apparent.

In the San Joaquin valley the Farm Security administration made a manful attempt to provide decent housing, but could not keep up with the ever-swelling tide of newcomers. Thousands of the migrants still are living in tents in camps that defy all efforts of health officials to maintain sanitary conditions.

Jonathan Garst, regional director of the F. S. A., now suggests these people be placed upon cooperative farms like those already established in the Southern states, but the land for such farms is not available in California.

All of which indicates plainly that this is a federal problem and that even the federal government cannot cope with it within the boundaries of California alone. Once these hordes have arrived in this state their very numbers defy any successful means of adequate care. The problem begins in the areas from whence they came, and there is where the federal authorities should be exerting their primary and greatest effort.

If, as now is generally acknowledged, it is to be federal money only that can be relied upon for refugee relief, it would be better spent in efforts to hold them in their own home states and districts than in trying to keep them alive after they arrive in California.

Quick! Can't someone think up a new way to cross the Atlantic by airplane?

On the Lone Prairie

What a broad new field of research and endeavor is opened by the victory of the Texas gubernatorial candidate who campaigned with the Golden Rule as his slogan, the Ten Commandments as his platform, and a hillbilly band as his accompaniment.

Full many a politician has quoted the Bible to his purpose, but until now none has backgrounded his appeal to the voting populace with hillbilly cantatas.

Because politicians are notoriously copy-cats and will take up any device that promises victory, the Texas episode augurs a renaissance of music, which went into a decline with the extinction of the legitimate theater and vaudeville.

There will be those, of course, who will argue that hillbilly music is not music, but that is debatable and cannot be settled with few words. What more lively campaign issue could Texas have in its next gubernatorial election than the question: Is hillbilly music, or is it not?

Bad Food—Bad Tempers

On complaint of the jobless, the state of Washington recently inspected food being given to those on relief. One cargo of prunes was found to be so bad that 3000 cases were seized by the food and drug division.

No matter what one thinks of the relief situation, whether one believes there is too much or too little relief, there should be general agreement that it is poor policy that such food as is doled out should be spoiled or tainted.

Those who would sell or buy such spoiled food for the unemployed are taking advantage of the distress of others in a most despicable fashion.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK.—The Cincinnati Post reports that Johnny Vander Meer, the young athlete who pitched two no-hit games for the Reds, is demanding 50 percent of the proceeds of newspaper and magazine articles in praise of himself for which he supplies the material. Cincinnati papers are happily exempt from this charge, and he will gladly give them interviews free. This is a large leak in Vander Meer's commercialism, because there would seem to be nothing to prevent the use of laudatory matter intended for local consumption in articles for sale elsewhere. Idolatry is never libelous, and common knowledge in Cincinnati is common knowledge everywhere.

Nevertheless, certain Cincinnati newspaper writers are deeply hurt, feeling that Vander Meer has snapped at a hand extended to pet him and munched it clear up to the shoulder. Not overpaid at best, some of them have had a chance to make a few dollars spreading the fame of a hero, and the young man's demands would cut their 10 dollar and 20 dollar fees in half.

The remainder would hardly pay them for their trouble, and the result would be a self-imposed embargo on Johnny Vander Meer unless the writers warmed over their local material and used it for the export trade, if this has not occurred to them, then ingenuity is on the decline in Cincinnati journalism.

Some of my colleagues seem to think that this is something new in commercialism, but I can assure them that Johnny Vander Meer is following distinguished precedent. Only recently President Roosevelt placed on sale as by-product of the distinguished office which he adorns the record of his conversations with the press and, only as an afterthought and apparently in response to criticism announced that the proceeds would be devoted to some public work.

Jess Willard, when he was heavyweight champion of the world, once declined to give your correspondent his thoughts on the eve of a struggle with Frank Moran, which turned out to be an exhibition of mass resistance, on the ground that Mr. Hearst was paying him $50,000 a year for the exclusive right to this commodity. Greater thinkers have been paid less, but your correspondent had to admit that Mr. Willard's mother did not raise a foolish son in raising Jess when he said: "Why should I tell you what I think for nothing when Mr. Hearst is paying me $50,000 a year to tell him what I think?"

He Got It
But your correspondent's mother did not raise any foolish children, either, and in a subtle battle of wits between two intellectual giants, Mr. Willard was first diverted into trivialities, then expanded into a discussion of his plan of battle which was presently given eternal permanence in the five-star final under a line which truthfully said that the following thoughts had been expressed at a late hour today "by Jess Willard." He had given away perhaps $5,000 worth of thought resenting a suggestion that Moran was braver, although, of course, the interview might have been appraised at a somewhat smaller figure as collateral at Morgan's bank.

Some celebrities are just that way.

There was a mysterious woman witness in a murder case around here a few years ago who got $20 from a Hearst journalist for an exclusive signed story of what she had seen on the night of the crime, and thereafter told a fresh version of what she had seen—in a flash of lightning, incidentally—every night for about a week. The lady had never been in literature before, but she showed a distinct change of style from day to day, and she had the imagination of a born fictioneer.

She Was Wise
Moreover, she had the business acumen of a Charles Dickens, for she always had to have the money in the pocket of her apron before she would tell each version of what she saw by the flash of lightning that night.

But fame is fleeting, and perhaps in a year Johnny Vander Meer will be pleased to see his name in print, even in the fine type of the record books. When "Trudy" Ederle returned from her victory over the English channel it took hours to persuade Dudley Field Malone, her manager, to let her accept, free, a red roadster on which she had set her heart in return for her picture at the wheel of the same.

Dudley wouldn't think twice on the same proposition today. He might even accept a red roadster, free himself, if approached with dignity.

AHA!
"Lady, could you give me a quarter to get me where my family is?"
"Certainly, my good man, here's a quarter. Where is the family?"
"At de movies."—Commerce.

The trouble is that so few know how to tune in their own wavelength vibration.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

MADISON, Wisc.—With all his galavanting around, there is one state which the president never has entered. He has been all around it; he has been in Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota and Iowa. But never has he set foot in Wisconsin, privileged domain of the La Follette.

This year, according to white house advisers, he is scheduled to go there. And upon such a trip depends a number of things, including:

1. The nervous system of Senator F. Ryan Duffy, now up for re-election, and a very worried man.

2. To a lesser extent the drift of the La Follette third party, which bears the distinguished label of National Progressives of America, or NPA.

At present, the NPA is lying low. This does not mean that it is resting on its oars. There are definite sub-surface signs of activity, such as the raising of a $50,000 fund, and organization work in various parts of the country, particularly—though most people wouldn't guess it—in the deep south and New England.

Young Governor Phil La Follette has some definite plans in mind after the national elections in November. He is saying nothing about them for the present but the chances are that his activity will depend upon what happens to Roosevelt in November, especially on whether Roosevelt keeps to a left-progressive course.

Worried Senator
The predicament of Senator Duffy, a democrat, is not so mysterious. It is concrete and easy to understand. It boils down to the fact that Duffy's sole stock in trade for re-election is a "handful of presidential coat-tails" without which he hasn't a ghost of a chance of returning to the senate.

That is why he is so nervously awaiting the president's final decision to set foot, at last, in Wisconsin.

Duffy was first elected because the La Follette supported him. But this year they will have a candidate of their own in the field, thus making a three-corner race, and necessitating for Ryan Duffy all the my-good-friending the president possibly can bestow on him.

Progressive Candidate
Amusing fact is that Phil La Follette originally planned to run a candidate against Duffy who is no more liberal than the senator himself.

He was State Secretary Theodore Dammann.

But some of the veteran progressive generalists would have none of Phil's temporizing and insisted that their candidate for the senate be a true-blue progressive.

In the end they over-ruled Phil, and now there are two progressive candidates in the field:

1. Lieut. Gov. Herman L. Ekern, a close friend of the late Senator La Follette, one of the ablest leaders in the progressive camp, but with no vote-winning "it" and a total zero as a stump speaker.

2. Representative Tom Amle, younger but equally devoted La Follette, the only member of the Wisconsin delegation to vote for the president's reorganization bill, who is a whirlwind on the hustings and has a real chance of licking Ekern, despite all the support given the lieutenant governor by NPA bigwigs.

Gubernatorial Laughs

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politician and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. REACTIONARIES' MISTAKES
To the Editor: Doubts I expressed as to whether Mr. Oscar Knox could qualify as a reactionary were dispelled by his assertion in the Register:

"We have already handed to South American countries, on a silver platter, an enormous share of our world market by trying to set an artificially high price for our cotton so they have no difficulty in raising and selling it cheaper than our price."

That statement proves him to be a conservative and reactionary, for it is obviously 100 per cent wrong. It shows him to be unaware of vital facts, or unable to analyze them, or both.

Three major causes led to increased production of cotton abroad:

First, During the World War and afterwards, the price of cotton advanced 75 cents per pound, resulting in increased acreage in South America, Australia, Asia and Africa. According to Mr. Knox and other reactionaries, that unprecedented price did not induce the people of Argentina, Brazil, to raise cotton, but that when this government, by much needed regulation, increased the price of cotton to 10 cents per pound, this advance of 5 cents—as against 75 cents advance during and after the war—resulted in an enormous increase in the production of foreign cotton.

Second, The Smoot-Hawley tariff bill, unscientifically levied despite knowledge that other countries would retaliate with prohibitive tariffs, went into effect in 1931, and cotton importing nations, which had been customers of the United States, purchased their cotton elsewhere. In October, 1932, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde admitted that foreign cotton had displaced what was self-evident from the fact that 5-cent cotton, 25-cent wheat and 10-cent corn did not result in the disposal of our surpluses abroad.

Third, All leading foreign countries revealed gold, used in foreign exchange, went into effect in 1931, and cotton importing nations, which had been customers of the United States, purchased their cotton elsewhere. In October, 1932, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde admitted that foreign cotton had displaced what was self-evident from the fact that 5-cent cotton, 25-cent wheat and 10-cent corn did not result in the disposal of our surpluses abroad.

About 90 per cent of the cotton raised in this country is produced in the deep South, wherein only the single state of Texas imports Mexican labor for cotton picking, so Mr. Knox's reference to the "importing of Mexican labor in this instance is beside the point."

There are many plantations in the South of 1000 acres, and of even 5000 acres, on which hundreds of workers are engaged. Men, women and children work in the cotton fields picking cotton. Although the season is only of several weeks' duration, for many thousands of families it supplies a large portion of the yearly income. One of the first effects of the use of mechanical cotton picker will be a drastic reduction in wages of hand pickers.

Mr. Knox's intimation that what is saved from wages of cotton pickers will be spent by the growers "to buy American goods," contains the reactionary fallacy that a few will purchase as much food, clothing, furniture, radios, electrical equipment, etc., as would the many.

The fact that Mr. Knox and other reactionaries disapprove of the raising of the price of agricultural products shows that reactionaries would have wrought even worse disaster than we experienced, had they remained in power. When the prices of agricultural products were at a low ebb—where Mr. Knox and other reactionaries evidently believe they should have remained—the farmers experienced ruin such as they had never known before; and the decline in purchasing power of the farmers was one of the chief causes of the depression in industry and business.

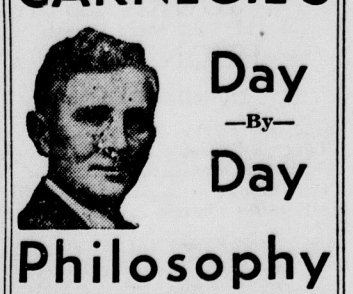

In Iowa, the richest agricultural state in the union, owner operators of farms declined to 40 per cent, and renters and share-croppers increased to 60 per cent; while in Mississippi, a cotton producing state, owner operators of plantations declined to 28 per cent, and the share-croppers and renters arose to 72 per cent. It is needless to say that the tendency has been reversed under the New Deal, whereas reactionaries would have seen to it that it continued.

Mr. Knox should read "Land Without Moses," by a Texas newspaperman, Charles Curtis Munn, and an article in the November, 1937, Atlantic entitled "You Have Seen Their Faces," by Erskine Caldwell.

CARNEGIE'S

Day
—By—
Day
Philosophy

It is encouraging to note now many men past fifty are doing splendid work. Not so long ago, some one announced loudly that a man had passed usefulness at forty. That interested me. So I at once began a study of the men whose names had been before the public a long time. It was amazing to learn that many of them had passed sixty.

At the age of seventy-two, Ignace Jan Paderewski, celebrated Polish pianist, made another concert tour.

"I suppose you are making your farewell appearances," an admirer said to him one day. "You will retire after this, of course?"

"The great pianist laughed with a touch of scorn. 'Not I,' he replied. 'When I retire I die!'"

He is now seventy-five years old and still going strong. He knows that the great dies quickly.

Recently, I dined with Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bacheller at Winter Park, Fla. Irving might well be called the dean of American novelists. His most famous novel, Eben Holden, was one of the few novels ever written that sold a staggering total of more than a million copies. It was written 33 years ago, and it is still selling a few thousand copies each year.

Irving Bacheller is now seventy-eight. After he had passed seventy, he decided to demonstrate that he could still make a living with his pen. Most men at seventy-eight feel they are too old to work; but Irving Bacheller told me that he accomplished more work at seventy-seven, in a given space of time than he had ever done before. He is now writing his memoirs which will soon appear in two volumes.

Don't let discouragement enter your life at any age. You may not be fitted for the same work at 60 that you were at thirty, but there is a place for you somewhere.

The man who has no ability at sixty had very little at thirty.

In Lexington, Ky., I saw stallions worth a quarter of a million. Imagine paying that much for a horse, merely because he has run faster than other horses? If it is merely speed you want, you can buy for $40 a second-hand car that will run faster than any horse on earth. Here is an interesting statement from a Western cowboy: "A man can outwalk a horse over an entire day."

I love horses. Back on a Missouri farm I learned to ride a horse long before I knew that Columbus discovered America. I have ridden horses for thousands of miles. I still ride them. To me it is the most beneficial, interesting and pleasant way to get exercise.

I once asked a colored boy who was training a thoroughbred if he had ever been thrown. "No, suh," he said, "I was nevuh throwed. But one horse rared up last week and just walked out from under me."

Then I asked him if the wealthy sportsmen who spend millions running these breeding and training farms were a happy lot. He replied: "No, sir, they are not as happy as the people who work for them by the month."
